Washington and its suburbs are rapidly growing. Home owners are taking advantage of low building costs. Real estate will never be cheaper.

GERMANS URGE SCHLEICHER AS CABINET LEADER

Chancellor's Post Looms as Possibility for Imperial Officer.

HITLER CANCELS NAZI MEETING ON NEWS

Storm Troopers Get 8-Day Furlough; New Fight on Government Planned.

Berlin, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, one of the old imperial military leaders who is recognized as the power behind the throne in the present cabinet, emerged today as a strong possibility for the chancellorship.

The name of Dr. Franz Bracht, deputy federal commissioner in charge of the state of Prussia, was twined with the general's in the maneuvering that was going on in an effort to compose the cabinet crisis. Dr. Bracht was mentioned for the Prussian premiership.

This tentative slate was set forth in party newspapers which suggested that Von Schleicher was properly neutral to head a cabinet in which Adolf Hitler's National Socialists and the Centrists would be represented in a ratio of two to one.

Hitler Cancels Meeting.

Without issuing any explanation, Mr. Hitler suddenly canceled a meeting of Nazi representatives from all over the country, which had been scheduled for tomorrow. Members of the federal, state and local parliaments were to have attended this meeting.

It was assumed the National Socialist leader wanted an opportunity to discuss with his closest advisers the situation created by President Paul von Hindenberg's refusal Saturday to turn the chancellorship over to him.

The cabinet met today and there was some discussion of the international political situation, but the date of convoking the new Reichstag remained undecided.

Fears that the Reichstag might not be summoned into session were set at rest by a cabinet announcement that it would be convened within the time provided by the constitution and not later than August 30.

Idle Aid on Program.

Among the subjects discussed by the ministers was a program to relieve unemployment. The major points of this plan were approved and it was agreed they will be submitted to the Reichstag, but what they were was not disclosed.

The newspaper Der Montag reported that all Nazi storm troopers had recieved an eight-day furlough. The paper interpreted this action as an indication that the first thing the Nazi leaders wanted to do was to decide what action they should take as a result of President von Hindenburg's rebuff to Hitler.

Joseph Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, announced a new campaign against the government in today's edition of the newspaper Der Angriff.

Without intimating this fight would have "illegal" aspects, Goebbels asserted that Chancellor von Papen would face the "embittered resistance of all nationalistic Germany rallied under our banner."

HURRICANE'S DEATH LIST MOUNTS TO 32

Damage to Cotton and Rice Crops Is $2,000,000; Relief Is Rushed.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The list of those who died in the hurricane over southern coastal Texas lengthened tonight to 32 as a widespread program of relief got well under way.

The injured throughout the storm area, most of whom were persons requiring only first aid treatment, were estimated by persons working at relief stations to number from 200 up and the loss in cotton and rice crops alone was placed at $2,000,000.

Trucks of food and tank cars of water were dispatched from Houston to the three devastated towns which felt the worst of the storm Saturday night—Freeport, Angleton and West Columbia. The Freeport water system, however, was reported repaired late in the day.

A string of freight cars was sent into Angleton and West Columbia to aid in housing the homeless.

Relief workers reported many families living in isolated sections had been discovered in dire circumstances.

One group, found in the woods near West Columbia, had been without food or water for 60 hours. The father and two children were ill; the mother had searched without success amid the debris of the wrecked home for food.

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, of the Fifty-Sixth Cavalry Brigade, who went into the area as an observer, said he foresaw demoralization with possible famine in prospect unless relief was expedited.

Property damage caused by the hurricane could not be estimated beyond the general knowledge that it ran into millions of dollars. Angleton, Freeport and West Columbia, all within 100 miles of Houston, suffered most, but several surrounding towns also were hard hit.

The estimates of the crop loss, made by G. C. Ellisor, agricultural agent here, and R. Hoffpauir, president of the Houston Chapter of the American Rice Growers Association, did not include damage to all crops other than cotton and rice.

Everywhere were stories of lost homes, lost investments, lost relatives. At Angleton, the relief center im-

Robbery Victim Rebels And Kills Holdup Man

Miami, Fla., Aug. 15 (U.P.).—Tired of being held up and robbed continually, L. B. Harrison battled a holdup man at his filling station today and killed him.

Harrison fired five times at the holdup man, Bradford White, 21. White was hit in the abdomen, commandeered a taxi and fled. The taxi crashed a tree and White died in a hospital.

Drop to 700 Feet and Wave to Crowds; Radio Contact Established.

Valley Stream, N. Y., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Two young matrons, out to break the women's endurance flight record of 122 hours, were aloft in their "Flying Boudoir" tonight on the second-day stretch of their test.

When they passed the 24-hour mark at 1 p. m. (Eastern standard time) the fliers, Mrs. Frances Marsalis and Mrs. Louise Thaden, dropped to 700 feet, circled the field several times and waved to the crowds. They then climbed again to cruising altitude of 1,500 feet. Last night they dropped a note from the plane, but it was lost in the descent.

Their meals are lowered to them in a bucket from the refueling plane. It is done with increased caution now, since their first attempt ended when the bucket swung into a wing of the plane and ripped the fabric, forcing them to come down after seventeen hours in the air.

The first radio contact was established late today.

IRELAND FORMS ANOTHER ARMY TO KEEP ORDER

"White" Is Third Group of Military Forces in Free State.

CHALLENGE IS SEEN TO 'RED' REPUBLICANS

New Organization Proposes to Protect Citizens Against Intimidation.

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A new "White" army is being formed in the Irish Free State with the announced purpose of maintaining law and order.

Dr. O'Higgins, president of the volunteer division of the Saorstat Army Comrades Association, declared today that his organization is neither a menace nor a challenge to the Free State government.

There already are two armies in the Free State—the "Green" force of Saorstat regulars and the "Red" Irish republican army, which was an illegal organization under the old Cosgrave government. Much interest has been aroused in the new association.

Against Secret Menace.

"We only stand between the people and the menace of the secret organizations," Dr. O'Higgins said.

"Our division is not a military organization likely to precipitate war, and our immediate object is peace. There is no intention to issue arms and there will be no drilling so long as drilling remains illegal in this country. The backbone of the organization consists, of course, of men already trained."

Dr. O'Higgins asserted that the people were in a state of depression and demoralization as a result of invisible intimidation, and that they were at the mercy of secret groups.

"Unless some organization attempts to stand between the people and intimidation," he said, "the growth of Communist principles in the near future will result in nothing but chaos and anarchy.

To Support Government.

"It is our intention to support lawfully constituted government and to maintain law and order. We definitely have decided that any move we make shall be done in the full light of day." The "white" volunteers are accepted as a direct challenge to the Irish Republican army for it is against that army that the charge of intimidating frequently has been flung.

Recruits are flocking to join the division and it is anticipated that within a few weeks Dr. O'Higgins—who is a brother of Kevin O'Higgins, vice president of the Free State, who was assassinated July 10, 1927—will have under his command a formidable force of trained men. And there is no shortage of guns.

One widely held view is that the Property Rights Ended In Panama Rent Strike

Panama City, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Constitutional provisions relating to property rights and individual guarantees were suspended in a decree issued today by President Ricardo J. Alfaro after the cabinet council had been convoked to consider threatening aspects of a tenants' strike against what were considered high rentals.

The decree provided that rents could not be collected from sick and unemployed tenants, against whom the eviction laws were unenforceable, but that the government would enforce collections according to the rent contracts from all others.

B. E. F. Hid Explosives Here, Johnson Says

Representative Declares U. S. Will Prove Reds Inspired Men.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

After an examination of the evidence collected by the Department of Justice and the United States Secret Service in connection with the rioting which preceded the rout of the "bonus army" last month, Representative Royal C. Johnson, of South Dakota, declared last night that the Federal authorities are prepared to prove "at the proper time" that arms, ammunition, dynamite and ignition caps were at one time concealed in the same bonus camp in Washington.

Speaking as an overseas officer and as one of the founders of the American Legion, and viewing the evidence in the light of his seven years' experience as chairman of the House committee on veterans' affairs, Representative Johnson sketched the entire history of the march. He spoke before the annual State convention of the American Legion at La Crosse, Wis.

He cited the first public call for the march in a New York Communist daily of May 17, 1932, and told of one Government report which "shows conclusively that 67 Communist keymen were going to Washington to create unrest among the bonus marchers."

He denounced newspapers which attempted to make political capital out of the tragedy.

"Cleveland would not stand for intimidation by any group," Representative Johnson said. "Neither will any other President, and the half-baked writers who are now trying to stir up trouble in Washington ought to know it."

Mr. Johnson was one of the few members of Congress who left his seat

BALL'S TRIAL BEGINS IN $24,454 SHORTAGE

Four Witnesses Heard First Day; Court Calls for Bank Accounts.

Fast developments were recorded yesterday in the crowded courtroom in Clarendon, Va., as E. Wade Ball, former Arlington County treasurer, went on trial in circuit court on charges of misuse of public funds.

When the court adjourned in the afternoon, the jury had been picked, opening arguments by counsel had been heard and four prosecution witnesses had testified.

Although Ball is being tried on an indictment charging misappropriation of $24,454 due the State of Virginia for license tax collections in January, he is charged in the State auditor's report with being short $564,405. He was county treasurer for 24 years.

In his opening statement, Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas said Ball in 1930 "kited checks in the amount of $127,500 to make his bank balance appear to be more than it was." He said a similar action involving $108,000 was taken in 1931.

Defense Attorneys Crandall Mackey and Frank Ball objected to Douglas' statements that Ball had been short in his accounts prior to the period of the indictment, which covers January collections.

Judge Walter T. McCarthy overruled defense objections. Continuing his arguments, Douglas said the State would prove that Ball collected certain funds belonging to the State and

Town Barricaded In Strikers' March

Armed Illinois Citizens Protect 2,000 in Coal Mines.

Taylorville, Ill., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Like a city under martial law, this community of about 8,000 persons looked over farflung barricades tonight and waited alert for the promised "march on Taylorville" of striking coal miners from Springfield and southern Illinois.

Sentinels of townspeople and farmers, armed with shotguns, pistols and farm implements, kept vigil on highways at Christian County borders. In every township vigilantes, deputized by Sheriff Charles Wieneke, awaited call. Scouts toured roads outside the county.

Within the barricades of tractors, trucks and farm machinery, four big mines of the Peabody Coal Co. hoisted coal at capacity. More than 2,000 diggers were below today—2,000 whom the strikers seek to enlist in their movement against the new $5 wage contract.

British Cotton Mills Face Strike of 500,000

Blackburn, England, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Britain's vast cotton industry was threatened today with a strike which would involve almost 500,000 operatives. The central board of the Northern Counties Textile Trade Federation decided to call a strike August 27 unless the existing dispute over a new wage agreement is settled.

The walkout was scheduled for twelve days hence in order that the employers might have an opportunity to make new proposals. Thus the door to peace was left open.

GARNER IN TEARS DEFENDING RECORD

Fights "Whispering" Drive; Hears He Is Handicap to Ticket in East.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—With tears in his eyes, Speaker Garner sought today to put an end to what had been called a "whispering campaign" against him.

At a luncheon in Democratic national headquarters, he attacked religious bigotry, denied he had not supported "Al" Smith in 1928, and said on prohibition he was an "outright repealist."

His voice quavered frequently as he answered three pointed questions that were fired at him in rapid order by leaders of three New England States which supported Smith in the Chicago convention.

"There is a whispering statement that you did not support Smith in 1928," said Joseph A. Maynard, State chairman in Massachusetts, as the vice presidential candidate paused in his talk to the State leaders.

"I began voting very early, when I was 19," the Texan replied, with a smile playing on his ruddy face, "and I want to say that I never split a Democratic ticket.

"I said in 1928 in two speeches I delivered in behalf of Smith that I believed he was one of the greatest leaders America ever produced."

The Speaker paused, then added: "And I still believe that."

The New Englanders applauded, and Garner continued:

"I think Smith would have made

Police Seek Insane Killer of Two Here

Escaped Madman Feared to Be Around Parks Downtown.

An insane killer, who murdered two persons in the last nine years and who escaped from the Asylum for the Criminally Insane at Marion, Va., last week, is being sought by Washington police in the vicinity of Pension and Lafayette Parks, which he is known to have frequented when he lived here.

James A. Wood, 58, veteran of two wars, had been confined at the institution for insane following the slaying of C. N. Joyce, an attorney who befriended him. The attorney had obtained his release from St. Elizabeths Hospital, where he was being held after he shot a soldier at Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street northwest nine years ago.

A warning following Wood's escape told police that he might be armed. He was described as being 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, mixed gray hair, blue eyes, tattoo marks on the left arm and very tanned. He was said to be dressed in dark gray pants with no coat.

Solberg Leaves Friday On Flight to Norway

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Friday has been chosen as the day for Thor Solberg's flight to Oslo, Norway, weather permitting, it was announced today.

Solberg will take off from Floyd Bennett Field here, accompanied by Carl Petersen, radio operator, and member of the Byrd expedition to Antarctica.

BRITAIN-CANADA TARIFF ACCORD HELD IN SECRET

Details Withheld to Guard Prices Against Sharp Fluctuations.

DOMINION BELIEVED FAVORED ON GRAIN

Treaty Not Yet Signed, but Differences Said to Have Been Eliminated.

Ottawa, Ontario, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—In order that commerce may be protected from violent price fluctuations, details of tariff agreements between the United Kingdom and the dominions represented at the British Imperial Economic Conference probably will be kept secret for some time, it developed today.

It was officially disclosed that Britain has not yet signed trade treaties of any kind with the dominions, but important differences standing in the way of an accord with Canada were understood to have been eliminated. The two nations virtually have arrived at an understanding which would include preference in Britain for Canadian farm products and reciprocal favors in Canada for British iron, steel and coal.

Tariff Details Withheld.

The probability is that details of tariff accords will be withheld until the various ministers of finance report to their parliaments.

It was explained that if announcement were made now that Britain had agreed to put an import duty on wheat, for instance, millers might rush to acquire large stocks from Russia or other sources to avoid paying higher prices.

The subcommittee on grades and standards of agricultural products approved a recommendation that countries within the commonwealth set up cooperative agencies to disseminate information on commercial requirements with a view to ultimate uniformity.

Canadians generally were exercised over a suggestion by Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, that the production of staple commodities be geared to consumer demand in an effort to raise the general commodity price level.

1929 Wheat Pool Recalled.

These critics recalled the sad experience of the Canadian wheat pool in 1929 when the wheat crop was held in reserve in the hope that cheap grain might leave the world market. Argentina stepped in where Canada had been and exported wheat for months after statistics had shown her exportable surplus to be depleted.

The result was that Canada not only did not sell her wheat, but British consumers, believing an attempt had been made to force up their bread prices, gave vent to their senti-

Mejorada Held Slated As Ambassador to U. S.

Mexico City, Aug. 13 (A.P.).—El Nacional Revolucionario said today that Javier Sanchez Mejorada will become Mexican Ambassador at Washington, to succeed Dr. Jose Manuel Puig Casauranc.

Dr. Puig, the newspaper asserted, will be shifted to another diplomatic post. Rumors to this effect have been current since Senor Mejorada resigned as head of the National Railways, but there has been no official confirmation. Dr. Puig became Ambassador at Washington in October, 1931, succeeding Manuel C. Tellez.

MAYOR WALKER.

EARLY PARLEY SEEN ON NAVAL STRENGTH

U. S. and Britain Expected to Begin Negotiations; Hoover Plan Opposed.

(United Press.)

The State Department summoned Army, Navy and diplomatic advisers, recently returned from the Geneva disarmament conference, into session yesterday to hear reports on past progress and to survey the future.

Interest centered on the coming Anglo-American naval conversations to adjust the differences in the United States and British disarmament plans. These talks, expected at first to start this month, have been postponed indefinitely because British statesmen are occupied with other problems, mainly the imperial conference at Ottawa. They probably will begin in September or October. One American official said that "We will go ahead as soon as the opportunity arises."

Conversations will be limited at first to the two largest naval powers. They are expected to expand to the French, Italian and Japanese foreign offices, however, as they progress to points directly affecting their nations.

President Hoover proposed that the naval powers should limit their tonnage by between one-third and one-fourth. This would mean scrapping some existing ships.

The British counterproposal was to limit the size of individual ships and cut tonnage that way, rather than by reducing numbers. London pointed out that the vastness of its empire required many ships to cover it.

Briefly summarized, the two proposals, as they affect principal categories of vessels, are:

Battleships — American plan — Reduce total tonnage one-third, or scrap about five 35,000-ton battleships, thus reducing by 175,000 tons.

British plan—Reduce unit size of vessels from 35,000 tons with 16-inch guns to 25,000 tons with 12-inch guns, or (if cruiser size is reduced) to 22,000 tons with 11-inch guns. Estimated tonnage reduction on latter basis 195,000 tons.

Cruisers—American plan—Reduce total cruiser tonnage by one-fourth.

British plan—Reduce unit size of cruisers from 10,000 tons with 8-inch

Democrats to Start Speeches in September

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley announced today that, with the exception of two speeches this month by Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic speaking campaign would not begin until after September 1.

Gov. Roosevelt is to make the first formal address of his campaign for the Presidency at Columbus, Ohio, on August 20 and will speak at Sea Girt, N. J., a week later.

MAYOR WALKER WILL QUIT SOON, PAPER REPORTS

"Impossible to Get Fair Hearing" Is Given as Reason.

OPPOSED TO AIRING OF PRIVATE INCOME

Roosevelt Says That Officials Must Show Source of Own Revenue.

Philadelphia, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Record says it learned today from "responsible sources" that James J. Walker will resign as Mayor of New York within the next few days—before Gov. Roosevelt can announce his final decision.

A hearing on removal charges against Walker now is in progress before Roosevelt.

If the mayor resigns, the paper says, he will give as his reason that "under the laws it is not possible for him to get the fair hearing which he deserves."

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—An emphatic "bunk" was the only comment tonight of John J. Curtin, Mayor Walker's attorney, to a Philadelphia report that the mayor would resign before Gov. Roosevelt could give his decision on removal demands.

"That's all I have to say. That's all it deserves," responded Curtin.

Sherwood Is Involved.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Reiterating his declaration that public officials must account for their private incomes, Gov. Roosevelt today pushed his investigation of Mayor James J. Walker's fitness to remain in office into the charges involving Russell T. Sherwood, missing accountant of the law firm of which Walker was a member, and the "unknown person."

John J. Curtin, Walker attorney, as the mayor took the stand, argued vehemently for the striking out of Walker's relations with Sherwood. He contended in a loud voice that they were private and had no connection with the mayor's official acts.

The governor reminded Curtin that in removing Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, Tammany leader, he had held officials must show the source of private incomes.

Surprise Witness.

"I don't regard that as an exposition of the law," Curtin shot back. "You will find nowhere any justification—legally now—for the waiving of any constitutional rights, or private, by a public official."

"Perhaps you would be right in not calling it a law," responded the governor, "but you would also be right in calling it my public policy in regard to this State."

The governor introduced a surprise witness when he summoned Walter R. Herrick, New York City park commissioner, to tell of a stock transaction to which the mayor denied being a party. Herrick testified before the Hofstadter committee he bought 300 shares of stock with the understanding they were for the mayor.

"So your talk of delivering the stock to the mayor," demanded Curtin on cross-examination, "is purely assumption, isn't it, and you don't pretend it is anything else."

Herrick answered "Yes."

Former Secretary.

Mr. Roosevelt read a portion of Herrick's testimony in New York to the effect that there was no question in his mind that $30,000 to pay for stock came from the mayor.

"I think that's wrong," Herrick replied; "the money came I thought from Mr. Stanton" (Edward M. Stanton, former secretary to the mayor).

Lancaster May Hear Fate Soon as Final Pleas Begin

Flier on Trial as Slayer of Clarke Is Praised as Noble, Unselfish Character and Denounced as Overcareful Murderer.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, on trial for the love triangle slaying of Haden Clarke, was alternately denounced today as "an overcareful murderer" and praised as an unselfish, noble character in final arguments.

The summations were started shortly before noon, when State and defense forces brought to a close the twelve-day procession of witnesses and the introduction of highly sensational testimony.

"This man, whose woman was stolen by Clarke, planned the whole murder carefully beforehand—but he made it look too good, just as his counsel has done with this case," charged Assistant State Attorney Henry M. Jones, first of the prosecution staff to speak, said.

He pictured Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, third figure in the triangle, as a woman "weak physically and weaker morally." He attacked her testimony that she believed Clarke killed himself, on the grounds that she was protecting one lover, living, because her other lover was dead.

"Lancaster's testimony that Clarke killed himself in an honor suicide is too smooth, too perfect," Jones declared. "It is like the story of a school boy carefully memorized."

Defense Counsel James M. Carson praised Lancaster for unselfishness.

"William Newton Lancaster, 4,000 miles from home, penniless, deserted by some, but not all of his friends, stands forth," Carson said, "in un-

Farmers' Strike Blockade Brings Increasing Threats

Sioux City's Live Stock Shipments Are Cut in Half; Kingsley's Stores Are Closed; North Dakota Holding Back Wheat for $1 Bushel.

Des Moines, Iowa, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A farmers' strike, born in Iowa a week ago in seemingly mild protest against low prices for farm products, tonight had effected an increasingly tightening blockade of the Sioux City terminal as its leaders considered its extension to other States.

Picketing, boycott and threats were invoked by the farmers in northwest Iowa to advance the strike, which would withhold produce from markets until assured that production costs plus a fair profit will be realized by the growers.

Stockyards in Sioux City, a major mart of the Middle West, today received 3,500 animals, as compared to 6,500 a week ago and 8,500 last year on the corresponding date.

Hundreds of farm men and women barricaded roads to prevent produce-laden trucks from entering that city and a crisis there was considered close at hand.

Produce dealers in Kingsley, a small town a few miles from Sioux City, were warned not to open for business today, a demand to which they bowed. Unemployed men near Waterloo, Iowa, patrolled suburban roads with signs bearing the slogan "Farmers holiday—sell no products."

Meanwhile, in Des Moines, a group of National Farmers Holiday Association leaders from several States met to lay plans for spreading the movement, to report that in nearby States the holiday was being accorded in-

PINCHOT AND G. O. P. JOIN IN UTILITY QUIZ

Former Commissioner Put $650,000 in Bank, Governor Says.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Gifford Pinchot, Pennsylvania's independent governor, and the State Republican organization, for years vigorous opponents in the matter of utility regulation, today appeared to attain full agreement on a complete investigation of the public service commission by the Senate.

The inquiry, to be authorized soon after the senate reconvenes tomorrow night, will consider the governor's charges that the commission has been "a catspaw of the utilities," and will review the policies of the regulatory body since its creation in 1914.

Including among specified allegations, which will come within the broad scope of the inquiry approved by Republican State Chairman Edward Martin, are the governor's charges that W. D. B. Ainey, former chairman of the commission, accepted graft from utilities officials, and that former Commissioner James S. Benn deposited $650,000 during the ten years he received $100,000 in salary as a member of the commission. Ainey resigned two years ago as a Senate committee prepared to investigate; Benn resigned in May, 1931, while confirmation of his reappointment was pending in the Senate.

In the wake of Martin's call for a "full and impartial" review of the all-time record of the commission, Attorney General William A. Schnader announced that Harry A. Mackey former Philadelphia mayor, had been charged by A. A. Chapman with receiving $1,000 monthly from the Philadelphia Rapid Transit while a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Board.

Pinchot's only comment on Martin's statement was that he had no objections to the broader inquiry the State chairman urges.

Former Commissioner Benn, in a London dispatch to the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, today said he had canceled previous plans to sail for the United States on Friday and would take the first steamer available. He declined to comment on the Pinchot charges made public last Friday.

Ill Treatment of Labor On Federal Job Denied

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Charges that laborers on a Government flood control project near Osceola, Ark., were the victims of unnecessary brutality were discounted today by Dr. W. H. Slaughter, superintendent of the United States Marine Hospital here.

Dr. Slaughter said that six Negro laborers brought here for treatment for burns suffered while working in wet concrete were victims of their own carelessness.

Mrs. Gann to Talk First at Bangor

Plans to Begin Series of Speeches in Maine in About Two Weeks.

Chicago, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Mrs. Dolly Gann would rather campaign than do almost anything else, she said today—and looks forward to a lot of it in the next two months.

En route to Topeka, Kans., to hear her brother, Vice President Charles Curtis, notified of his renomination by the Republican party, Mrs. Gann stopped off in Chicago to visit friends.

"I will campaign actively for the Republican ticket," she said. "Working at politics is a lot of fun, especially meeting people. My first speech will be at Bangor, Me., about the end of the month."

Car Crashes Tree; 3 Men Are Injured

Auto Going Down Avenue on Street Car Tracks, Policeman Says.

Three men were injured, two of them seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding last night crashed into a tree in Pennsylvania avenue at Third street southeast. Frank S. Moore, special policeman, who witnessed the accident, said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed down the tree lined car tracks in the center of the avenue.

Police said they would charge Walter Mair, 23, of 3701 Ninth street northwest, with reckless driving. He suffered a fractured nose and a badly cut face, and was considered the less seriously injured of the three.

His brother, Joseph, riding on the front seat, suffered a severe head injury. Eston Boyd, 23, of 1233 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, who said he was asleep on the back seat, was thrown against the front seat. He suffered a neck injury and lost several teeth. All were treated at Providence Hospital.

one of the greatest Presidents this country has ever known."

"Is it not a fact that the present leaders of our party in the South, like yourself, repudiated religious bigotry?" asked Chairman J. Howard McGrath, of Rhode Island.

"That is true," Speaker Garner replied quickly. He paused, then added:

"And I would apologize for the great State of Texas. If a man had told me Texas would have gone Republican in 1928, I would have thought him crazy. * * *

Tells of Attacks.

"I hear that I am considered a handicap to the ticket in the East. Of course, I regret that. It reflects of the religious bigotry we had in 1928."

The Speaker, a Methodist by faith, hesitated a moment, then continued with quavering voice:

"I have suffered from that bigotry more than you know, both politically and personally — comriunications — threats—suffered more than you gentlemen realize—attacks you people in New England know nothing about. That will answer your question."

There were tears welling in his eyes as he finished. A wave of applause swept around the luncheon table, at which more than 50 kingpins of the Democratic campaign were gathered.

How do you stand on the question of the eighteenth amendment," asked Chairman David Wilson, of Connecticut.

"That is a great subject for me," came the quick reply.

Smile Returns.

Again his face was wreathed in the same smile he had worn earlier in the day as he stepped from a train that had borne him from Hyde Park and Albany, where he had conferred with his running mate, Gov. Roosevelt.

"I am in favor of completely revoking the eighteenth amendment," he continued. "I never voted for it. I feel today as I did when it was introduced.

"I voted against it then on principle. Today I am against it for that same reason, with the additional reason that it is not workable in this country.

"My position is for outright repeal with no qualifications after it—just repeal."

Will Tour East.

When the speaker stepped from the train shortly before noon he rubbed his chin and asked to be taken to a barber shop.

From then on his routine was posing for photographs, being interviewed, conferring, the luncheon, more photographs and more interviews.

Late in the day he was asked what his evening program would be and replied:

"Well, I guess I've got a lot more jabbering to do with these folks, but I go to bed early, you know, so they'll have to talk fast."

The itinerary for his speaking tour was not announced, but he himself said he would come to New York about the middle of September, when Roosevelt starts on his campaign swing.

"He'll go West and I'll travel through the East for a while."

Introduction Error.

"I present the next President of the United States," James A. Farley, national chairman, said in introducing Garner at the luncheon.

"Vice President—not President," whispered Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was sitting nearby.

Before Farley could correct himself, Garner was on his feet and said, with a broad grin:

"The way it really is is satisfactory to the gentleman from Texas."

Describing himself as sympathetic to the East, he said he had been "accused in Texas of being a conservative rather than a progressive," and added:

"I think I have some very progressive ideas. I do not believe that power, money and property should be in the hands of a few. For those of you who still have some property after these three years realize that I am not going to take it away. I have some myself—a little."

Earlier, in a press conference, he was asked whether his conversation with the governor had found them in accord on all questions, to which he replied:

"Largely."

When asked if their views agreed on prohibition, he said:

"Frankly I don't think we discussed that, but I think we agree. My views have been known for 30 years."

Hoover's Acceptance Speech.

He said he did not think President Hoover's acceptance speech stand on prohibition would "change the situation" in the West or South.

"I don't know about the East," he added.

He doubted, he said, whether the Walker case would affect any votes in the West.

"We're a long way from New York," he added. "They just sell us goods—when we have money to pay for them."

As Garner was leaving the governor earlier in the day, Roosevelt described the Democratic drive for votes as a "look, listen and learn campaign." He said the "primary objective of the campaign is to talk to the people and find out the needs of the sections, although I probably will have to make one or two speeches."

It was explained the governor will "talk" at many places, but make few formal speeches.

ADJOINING STATES PLANNING TO JOIN IOWA FARMERS' STRIKE

creasing support, and to decide what would be done with the stocks held back from market at the termination of the strike.

The holiday was started under auspices of the Iowa Holiday Association and of Milo Reno, national president of the organization last Monday. During the week many produce dealers, elevator men, railroad officials, and others, declared the strike had no effect.

The strike in this State is scheduled to last 30 days, or until leaders have decided farmers are paid what they should be for hogs, corn, wheat, chickens, cream and other products.

Consider Deputizing 100 Men.

At Sioux City Sheriff John A. Davenport and County Attorney Ralph C. Prichard considered deputizing 100 special officers to keep highways open as deliveries of live stock, milk and other products were stopped and turned back by farmers.

Growers who wished to bring their produce to market beseiged authorities with requests for safe conduct.

Though numerous threats have been reported no actual acts of violence have occurred. Some strikers armed themselves with clubs, some truckers declared they would break through the blockade by force if necessary.

In Kingsley in the last few days milk and cream have been poured out of several trucks after drivers defied demands to stop handling produce.

Adding to the concern in northwest Iowa is a milk strike in Sioux City. This is not a part of the farmers' holiday, but a distributors' movement. Milk has been thrown into the roads, and many gallons have been given free to poor people.

In Harrison County, in the extreme west central part of Iowa, officials were on the alert to prevent carrying out of threats to dump cargoes of milk trucks bound for Omaha. Notes threatening drivers were pinned to the machines.

In the association leaders' meeting, John S. Bosch, of Atwater, Minn., and E. N. Hammerquist, of Farmingdale, S. Dak., declared that the strike sentiment was growing in their States. They were not prepared to say when it would be started.

Bismarck, N. Dak., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—North Dakota's farm "strike," aimed at raising the price of wheat to $1 per bushel, was launched today.

In Grand Forks, en route to Minnesota for a series of meetings to further the wheat-holding project, Dell Willis, Tolna farmer, originator of the movement, was optimistic.

"There is no question about farmers holding their wheat," Willis said. "Many already were holding their grain before and I believe many more joined today."

Willis said reports to him from over the State indicated very little wheat was going to market. The object is to keep wheat off the market until the price objective is attained.

May Aid Holiday Group.

He said he was willing to work with the Farmers' National Holiday Association and invited that organization to cooperate with the dollar wheat sponsors. The holiday group was meeting in Des Moines today, considering a farmers' selling ban.

A plan of financing the threshing bills of farmers who hold their wheat now is being worked out by officials in Northwest States, Willis said.

Willis said the dollar wheat movement had made progress in eleven States—Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Kansas, Texas, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

Under the plan farmers are asked to pledge that they will hold their crop for $1 per bushel, based on the Winnipeg market price. The $1 is for No. 1 dark hard Northern with discounts allowed for lower grades.

$75,016,000 Treasury Bills Bids Are Accepted

(Associated Press.)

Acting Secretary Ballantine last night announced acceptance of $75,016,000 out of $383,747,000 in bids received for an issue of approximately $75,000,000 in 91-day Treasury bills maturing November 15.

The average price of the bills to be issued was given as 99.878, at an average annual rate on a bank discount basis of about 0.48 per cent. The highest bid made was 99.881 and the lowest accepted 99.869.

HOOVER, ON SMOOTH BAY, ENJOYS FISHING

Rests on Sequoia After Two Deep-Sea Angling Trips on Chesapeake.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's first day of deep water fishing in a year and a half was a successful one.

White House attaches said last night the Chief Executive fished both yesterday morning and yesterday afternoon and caught "a nice mess" of trout and bluefish. He left Washington Sunday aboard the Commerce Department inspection boat, Sequoia, for a brief vacation on Chesapeake Bay.

Mr. Hoover spent the remainder of yesterday resting, the White House announcement said. It added, "weather fine."

Solomons Island, Md., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—From a Marine speedboat and under a cloudless sky, President Hoover today sampled the famous fishing spots of Chesapeake Bay and early tonight was riding a smooth sea on the Commerce Department inspection boat Sequoia for an unannounced destination.

Newspapermen in a small cruiser following the Sequoia and photographers in another boat were requested to keep a safe distance.

After a pleasant moonlight ride down the Potomac last night, the President arose early and tried his hand at deep-sea fishing at the mouth of the Potomac from a United States Marine motor boat. After being out an hour or more, he returned to the Sequoia in time to see a Marine seaplane drop papers and mail from the White House.

Pulling anchor, the Sequoia moved up the bay, and late today was about 8 miles off Solomons Island when the Chief Executive again took to the speedboat for some more fishing.

Returning to the Sequoia, the signal was given to proceed up the bay to a quiet anchorage for the night.

LIST OF HURRICANE DEAD IS INCREASING

provised in a community hall, one of the few buildings left undamaged, was so crowded physicians planned to send the more seriously injured to Houston.

Freeport was in desperate straits and there, too, as in West Columbia, the list of the injured was long.

In Wharton and Brazonia Counties, fields that were white with cotton before the storm lay beaten and devastated today. Rice that had been cut and stacked was strewn over the countryside, rainsoaked and worthless.

Additional reports of the dead follow:

M. P. Briscoe, 25, sulphur worker.
Mrs. E. P. Sennett, 52, Velasco.
Mary Mack, Negress, 35, West Columbia.
Henrietta Jones, Negro, 12, Sweeney.
Geraldine Jones, Negress, 4, Sweeney.
Maudine Eversole, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Eversole, of Damon Mound.
Unidentified Negress, Brazoria.
A Negro known as "Happy Jack," Clut.
S. L. Warnecke, ferryman at Velasco.
Two unidentified Mexican children whose bodies were recovered from the Brazos River.

There were unconfirmed reports of another death.

(Associated Press.)

The Red Cross yesterday received a telegram from Mrs. Cora Schuman, hurricane relief worker in Brazoria County Tex., reporting 250 homes seriously damaged in Angleton and 90 per cent of those in Freeport damaged.

Serious losses were confined to Brazoria, Fort Bend and Colorado counties, Mrs. Schuman said.

The national organization yesterday sent two additional staff workers out of St. Louis to survey the counties of Calhoun and Matagorda. In addition to Mrs. Schuman, four members of the national staff are at work in the storm-stricken area.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The first-class Coast Guard cutter, Unalga, left the Coast Guard base here yesterday with 60 men in command of Capt. L. C. Mueller, for relief work in the Texas storm area.

Middies Get Decalogue On Fair Play in Sport

(Associated Press.)

The boys who sail with the Navy's Scouting Force cruisers have a new ten commandments telling them to make fair play and clean tactics the rule in athletic contests.

The commandments, promulgated in an order by Rear Admiral W. H. Standley, commander of the force:

"Consider all athletic opponents as guests and treat them as such.

"Accept all decisions of officials without protest.

"Never hiss or boo a player or official.

"Never utter abusive or irritating remarks from the sidelines.

"Applaud opponents for good plays and good sportsmanship.

"Never rattle an opposing player.

"Seek to win by fair means only.

"Love sport for the game's sake and not for what a victory may bring.

"Apply the Golden Rule.

"Win without boasting and lose without excuse."

MRS. BOOLE VISIONS SPLIT W.C.T.U. VOTE

Principles, Not Candidates, Held Aim in Political Campaigns.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Principles, rather than candidates, probably will form the basis of any political action the Woman's Christian Temperance Union may decide upon, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, of Brooklyn, N. Y., said at the national convention of the organization here today.

"It is not the custom of the union to support candidates. We support principles," she said.

Her statements grew out of the announcement of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, chairman of the Tilled Forces for Prohibition, that the groups for which he spoke would support President Hoover for reelection.

"The allied forces is a single organization, not a group," Mrs. Boole said. "Dr. Poling's decision to support President Hoover is merely one group view. I do not see how we can indorse any candidate, and I believe we will be followed in this by millions of dry women voters."

The national president pointed out that the organization was composed of women from every part of the country, and thus represented both the Democratic and Republican viewpoints.

Because of this she was unable to understand, she said, how the union could prefer any particular candidate.

FORT PLANS TO HELP SMALL HOME OWNER

Head of New Loan Board to Start System as Soon as Possible.

(Associated Press.)

Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the new Home Loan Bank Board, told a radio audience last night that with the condition of the real estate mortgage market demanding "instant and aggressive relief" every effort is being made to get the system operating "at the earliest possible date."

The former New Jersey representative, speaking over a National Broadcasting Co. network, said it had become increasingly difficult for home owners with reduced income to obtain renewed mortgages.

"The letters which have reached my desk in the last week are many of them so pathetic in their appeal for assistance," Fort said, "as to make it almost impossible to do a day's work after reading them."

"We are not concerned with big loans on office buildings, apartment houses, hotels and large private dwellings," he said. "We are interested in the loan on the home of the ordinary citizen.

"We shall all be greatly disappointed if the Home Loan Bank system does not put under the real estate and mortgage structure of America the type of underpinning which not only will prevent its collapse in these troubled times, but will form a foundation for the continued expansion and growth of home ownership."

He said institutions which make their profits out of lending money on mortgages "would like to make new loans if they dared" and said the Home Loan Bank system "will make them dare" by enabling them to secure advances on the mortgages they now hold.

CONVICTS TERRORIZE AFTER PRISON BREAK

Citizens Stabbed, Kidnaped and Attacked by 19 Eluding Guards.

Granite, Okla., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Terrorizing citizens as they scattered in a frantic effort to elude pursuing guards, most of the 23 convicts who escaped from the State's reformatory here in the absence of their woman warden, were still at large tonight.

A stabbing, several kidnapings and an attempted attack on a 17-year-old girl were attributed by authorities to the prisoners who duped a sergeant and fled from the reformatory last night.

Four men, all sentenced to long terms for robbery, were recaptured in the vigilant search ordered by Mrs. George A. Waters, the warden, who returned to the reformatory from Oklahoma City this morning. Nineteen, including Joe Pounds, life termer convicted of killing a sheriff, were still uncaught.

Two guards, said by Mrs. Waters to have been negligent, were dismissed. Their names were not made public.

Mary Virginia Phinney, Mangum, Okla., girl, was choked by two youths, who attempted to assault her at the home of her brother-in-law, Virgil Ragsdale. She escaped.

Homer Yarbrough was slashed and wounded slightly in a brush with two of the fugitives, who commandered the motor car in which he and three girls were riding. The convicts fled into the woods.

Other motor car drivers were kidnaped by men who took their machines, but were released unharmed.

The break started when a convict with a smuggled pistol got the drop on Tom Owens, night sergeant, lured to the west cell block by a report a disturbance was expected, there. The front station guard was overpowered by convicts when he went to answer a telephone call in an office near the gate.

Hog Discharges Gun; Man Loses Foot.

Lake Charles, La., Aug. 15 (U.P.).—A hog on the farm of Roy Clark knocked over a shotgun, causing the weapon to discharge. The shot struck Clarke's foot and doctors had to amputate it to save his life.

BALL'S TRIAL BEGINS IN $24,454 SHORTAGE

that he knowingly failed to pay these funds over to the State.

Douglas is being aided in the prosecution by Collins Denny, jr., assistant State's attorney general.

That every cent that came into the hands of Ball during his 24 years as treasurer was expended for county affairs will be proved by the defense, Mackey asserted in his opening remarks.

"We shall refute claims made by the prosecution and show that funds collected by Ball in January did not benefit him," Mackey said. "We shall further show that today he is a poor man and has not a dollar in the world."

Ralph E. Remington, deputy clerk of the court, the first witness called by Douglas, testified the defendant had been treasurer of the county for about 24 years. He was not cross-examined.

C. B. Laycock, deputy commissioner of revenue, testified that he had issued 668 licenses in January and that the fees for these licenses, which were collected by Ball, totaled $24,454. At this point Frank Ball interjected the remark that the defense admitted this amount came into the hands of Ball in January.

Give Brief Testimony.

J. O. Faison, jr., deputy treasurer of Virginia, and C. E. Downs, of the State controller's office, gave brief testimony. Faison told of receiving checks from Ball in December and February. The amount received in December was for taxes, Downs stated. Frank Ball said the defense admitted that.

Questioned by Douglas, Downs asserted he had not received the amount for license taxes. He said he had called Ball on the telephone after February 10, when it was due. "He promised that he would send it in a few days," Downs said. However, he did not receive it, he added.

Under cross-examination by Mackey, Downs admitted in the past Ball always had made his payments promptly.

Judge McCarthy read the indictment to the jury and told them if they found Ball guilty they could fix the penalty at not less than a year or more than ten years in prison.

Bank Accounts Called.

The court signed an order, on motion of Frank Ball, calling on certain banks to produce records dealing with defendant's personal accounts and treasurer's accounts. The banks mentioned were Citizens National Bank of Alexandria, Arlington Trust Co., Potomac Savings Bank, Clarendon Trust Co. and the Peoples State Bank of Cherrydale.

The jury members, before whom the case is being heard, are Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Board of Temperance and Public Morals of the Methodist Church; T. C. Carroll, Charles Tarbuton, Joseph C. McClellan, A. W. Adams, John P. Mann, M. J. Dunnigan, Guy S. Zepp, Livingston Smith, Louis Shreve, B. F. Creel and David R. Collins.

Judge McCarthy warned the veniremen not to discuss the case with any person nor to read the newspapers. He said they would not be kept together. Court will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow.

Canadian Port Bustles With Wheat Shipments

Churchill, Man., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Canada's most northerly seaport today displayed an "open for business" sign. Grain from the West's wheat field spouted into the holds of the steamship Sirentz, which arrived Sunday, while carloads of flour and other products were speeding over the Muskeg line to supply further cargoes for five other vessels Churchill-bound for cargo.

The grain elevator, grain galleries and buildings grouped along the long dock were hives of activity early today as loading of the Sirentz got under way. She will carry 280,000 bushels of No. 1 northern wheat to a destination as yet unannounced.

TEACHER IS QUIZZED IN KILLING OF WIFE

Illinoisan Says Hijackers Slew Mate and Beat Him Unconscious.

Marshall, Ill., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Detailed questioning today failed to shake the story of H. C. Moor, 32, Robinson (Ill.) High School teacher, that his wife, Marjorie, 33, met death at the hands of hijackers.

Moor was held in jail pending an inquest tomorrow. His wife's body, two bullet holes in the heart, was found in the front seat of their automobile six miles from here shortly after last midnight.

Moor appeared at the Will Imle farm at 2 a. m., stating his car had been forced from the road by hijackers as he and his wife returned from a visit with their parents at Indianapolis. He said he was slugged unconscious and awakened to find his wife dead.

The parents of the couple expressed complete belief in the teacher's story. Local police, however, said since he gave two versions of the shooting they would continue their investigation.

His first story, police said, was that he stopped the car and was alongside it when he was attacked. Later he stated, police said, his automobile was forced to the side of the road by another machine carrying several men.

Sheriff J. M. Turner said Moor admitted having a pistol in the car, but would not describe it. A search of the car and the territory nearby failed to reveal the pistol.

Doctors who examined Moor said they were unable to find injuries on him.

He has taught agriculture at Robinson for seven years, and his wife recently was a substitute teacher there. They were married six years.

LANCASTER TO KNOW FATE SOON IN KILLING

selfishness and nobility of character with the brilliance of a gem against the dirt, mud muck and filth which form the sordid background of this case."

Carson declared the State had presented only circumstantial evidence against the British aviator.

"That is not enough," Carson shouted, "the state has not shown beyond reasonable doubt that Lancaster killed Haden Clarke."

"And while you are considering these disconnected circumstances, pointing to Lancaster's guilt, you must likewise consider the many reasonable instances showing without doubt that he is innocent," Carson continued.

"My client is not on trial for his love for Mrs. Keith-Miller, or he could be convicted. He is not on trial for his membership in this sordid triangle—he could be convicted for that.

"But he is on trial for his life for killing Haden Clarke, and because the state has not proved without reasonable doubt that he is guilty and he should not be convicted."

Carson had not completed his argument when court recessed for the day.

Clarke, a young writer, was fatally shot April 21 in the home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Lancaster's former flying partner, and who admitted she had loved and been loved by both men.

Arguments were not limited as to time.

Testimony throughout the trial centered largely on the lives and loves of the three principals, with experts taking the stand for the defense to testify Clarke, in their opinion, took his own life.

Lancaster's diary and personal letters between him and Clarke and Mrs. Keith-Miller were introduced by the State as part of the contention Lancaster had planned Clarke's death for stealing the love of the diminutive aviatrix, whom he said he learned to love on their flight from Australia to London.

formation of the new force is a tactical move to compel the government to abolish both it and the Irish Republican army, thus removing what Dr. O'Higgins' associates regard as a menace to future peace.

There appears to be no immediate danger of any clash, although trouble is possible in connection with memorial services Sunday in honor of Michael Collins, Arthur Griffith and Kevin O'Higgins. Both camps will hold parades but without display of arms.

EARLY PARLEY SEEN ON NAVAL STRENGTH

guns to 7,000 tons with 6.1-inch guns.

Destroyers—American plan—Reduce total destroyer tonnage one-fourth.

British plan—Reduce total destroyer tonnage one-third (if submarines are abolished).

Submarines: American plan, reduce total tonnage one-third, allowing no nation to have more than 35,000 tons. British plan, abolish submarines; if that can not be done, fix their unit tonnage at 250 to make them nonoffensive.

American criticism of the British plan is that it would require more building, more tax money. The administration stresses saving to taxpayers in scrapping existing vessels. Millions of dollars, observers here declare, would have to be spent to build the smaller ships the British are sponsoring.

Further, American naval experts contend that small battleships and cruisers are not suited to this country's needs. Having few naval bases, they argue, the United States must have ships that can steam long distances without refueling. They point out that the British have such bases throughout the world. Great difficulty is expected in reconciling the views of the two countries on these categories.

Destroyers and submarines may not offer such an obstacle. The United States frequently has offered to scrap the undersea ships altogether. No great point has been made of destroyer size. Present at the State Department disarmament conference today were Undersecretary Castle, Assistant Secretary Rogers; J. Pierrepont Moffatt, chief of the Western European Division; Brig. Gen. George S. Simonds, Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn and other Army and Navy officers.

CHANG'S RESIGNING EASES NEW CRISIS

Quits Peiping Area Post as Party Names Governing Unit of 18 Officers.

Nanking, China, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A definite step toward solution of China's week-old political crisis appeared achieved today when the central executive committee of the Kuomintang, composed of the Nationalist party's elder statesmen, accepted Chang Hsiao-Liang's resignation as pacification commissioner in the Peiping area.

The committee abolished the commissioner's post and appointed a military commission of eighteen members, which will be responsible, under direction of the Nanking government, for administration of the Peiping area. This duty heretofore was performed solely by Chang Hsiao-Liang.

The new commission contains henchmen of Chang and Chiang Kai-Shek, who is virtually commander in chief of the Chinese army. This caused a belief that, although Chang Hsiao-Liang had stepped down from his official position, his influence was virtually unchanged, and that an alliance with Chiang Kai-Shek would continue.

Observers here thought it likely that Chiang Kai-Shek had regained an advantage in the contest with Wang Ching-Wei, former president of the executive Yuan, for unbridled control of the Nanking government.

Chinese political figures said they believe Wang Ching-Wei was in such a position that he would be unable to resume the chairmanship of the executive Yuan, which is the equivlent of premier.

Lost Rescue Plane Is Found in Ocean

Coast Guard Craft Went to Take Ill Seaman Off Fishing Boat.

Boston, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A Coast Guard amphibian plane, missing since leaving Gloucester last night to aid in transporting a sick fisherman to port, was found tonight 15 miles south of Monhegan Island, Me., by the destroyer Wainwright, headquarters here were advised.

The Wainwright, one of several Coast Guard boats which had been searching for the plane since she failed to return after sending a radio message her gas supply was low, reported finding the craft but gave no further details. Coast Guardsmen said.

Aboard the big monoplane were Lieut. R. L. Burke, pilot; Lieut. Comdr. Fletcher W. Brown, commandant of Base 7, Gloucester; Radio Operator Thomas Mackenzie and Boatswain Wesley Saunders. They left Gloucester last night after several vessels had failed to find the fishing schooner Natalia Hammond, a member of whose crew was reported in need of medical treatment for blood poisoning.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

The black dinner gown with accompanying ermine-trimmed and long-sleeved jacket is important for the coming season—and for Miladi! (Seen on Fifth avenue.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—I told you to watch for draping! 'Course, we aren't back into those draped gowns of seven years ago—but its coming, I warn ye! A little drape here and there, on a skirt, points the way the drapes may sway, sooner or later.

The draped bodice, of course, is no new story. This fall it will be more in evidence than ever, draped in the bodice and in the sleeves that come from the bodice—that are indeed a part of it. And, for grace of silhouette, we don't expect a dress to have more than one drape—either in bodice or in skirt, that is, but not both.

Personally, I think the draped skirt is lovely and flattering. Miladi is nowise better outlined than by the draping of material around her form divine—if she has one—divine, I mean. The drape has to be well done, else it isn't flattering—and maybe that is why the couturieres hesitate. But their hesitation is only slightly waverish, here and there. So-o-o-o, watch for a little bitty drape, this fall—and more of them anon.

Speaking of jewelry yesterday—the sports jewelry I didn't have room to tell you about, wood has now to be combined with metal to be smart. Bronze is perfect for wood—a necklace of bronze metal claws fitting the one over the other, for instance, clasping a round wooden ball.

Then there are the ever so new cuff links, which were first spotted on the Riviera, and have since been seen everywhere on smart women, worn on tailored shirtwaists. Quite small and in modern style, these are—oh, and platinum, of course—with one's monogram in black enamel, or cut out. I can think of some I would like—oh, not my monogram on 'em, silly!

• • • •

I always knew something would be done about that evening gown problem! It's all right for us to read about the gorlicious ladies who wear the supergomslopshus evening gowns that fashun crickets like Dah-ray sketch and write about—but we have always known that it was a shame and a waste for our one evening gown, the one we simply had to have when we needed it, to hang there in the closet waiting patiently but ignominiously for its biyearly appearance. Now a kinder Dame Fashion has made it possible for us to have the dinner or dance dress that we absolutely have to have—and to use it for other affairs at the same time.

All by making the type of gown I illustrated for you today come into style! The top of the dress is sketched on the smaller figure, and then the long sleeved jacket is sketched worn with the dress, on the larger figure. Making, as you can see, the smartest afternoon dress, or kind of an outfit that one would wear to almost all evening affairs save those of a rather formal nature.

These black ensembles, with their fur-trimmed, removable boleros or jackets, are the smartest and latest for fall—and by far the most practical thing yet.

At least one lounging pyjama you simply have to have! And when I tell you that you can send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for an illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make the best fitting, most easily made and using-less-material-ish pyjama trousers, can you wait to finish reading this before you do? But do finish—because then you will know that the blouse I tell you how to make in this leaflet is the smartest and most easily made pyjama blouse in existence—and is styleless, absolutely guaranteed not to go out of style for a century. So hurry!

Au revoir!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

CANTELOUPE AND WATERMELON.
(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

The first course in a summer meal can be made to set the keynote for refreshing coolness and daintiness if you serve a colorful fruit cup as an appetizer. Having the appetizer course in place when the meal is announced is always effective, and if you choose the fruit combination pictured by the Department of Agriculture—canteloupe and watermelon, in balls, garnished with mint leaves—you can plan your table decorations accordingly.

To make fruit balls you will need a vegetable scoop about an inch in diameter, which costs but little. If you can not buy one conveniently where you live, just cut the watermelon and canteloupe into neatly shaped cubes and pile them together in your sherbet glasses or on plate of glass or attractive china.

Following this auspicious beginning for an easy, cool, summer menu, why not have jellied salmon, potato chips and for dessert, orange layer cake. Iced tea would be a good selection for a beverage.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

PROGRESSIVE DECAY.

ABOUT twenty years ago the passengers on a street car were startled by some very loud and harsh talking by a man. A young woman seated by this man jumped from her seat and found a place in another part of the car. The man was unmindful of the commotion he had caused. He was fairly well dressed and moderately clean. His eyes were very slightly crossed, and he looked about but appeared to see no one—at least he disregarded everyone.

Doubtless, the common expression was that he "had a crazy look." It was not easy to follow what he was saying for he was much excited and quite talkative. He seemed to be calling on the Deity to avenge something and warning the people of something to come. After a little he quieted down, talking in an undertone, but every few blocks he would call out in a loud, strident tone.

One hearer was of the opinion that the man was crazy, that he was excitable and talkative, and driven by delusions. Some of his vagaries seemed to be delusions of persecution. He considered him dangerous, thinking that at some time a delusion of persecution would cause him to kill, thinking thus to protect himself against or to rid himself of an enemy.

In the years that followed this observer met the insane man on the streets or in the cars not less often than once a month. The disturbed man was restless and always on the move. Overhearing more of his talk, the observer lost his fear that he would harm any one. He appeared to be wholly indifferent to people. When a frightened woman ran away from him, so far from following her or yelling at her, he appeared never to have seen her. He resented nothing. He continued to have delusions but they did not seem to be personal to himself. There was less evidence that he considered himself persecuted.

As the years went by he deteriorated progressively. His clothes became poorer and less well kept. Finally, he became ragged. At first he rode on the street cars steadily. Later he walked. He was just as restless as ever. He stopped shaving, although someone was apparently trying to keep his beard trimmed. He began to carry around strings tied into knots, sticks and trivial bits. When he would sit down to rest on the curb he would play with these trifles and talk to them. Occasionally, he would break out into loud, violent talk. Plainly, his mind was degenerating.

The likelihood is that he will become more and more enfeebled mentally and physically. Some night he will lie out in the cold and contract a fatal pneumonia, or he may be the victim of a street accident.

Here is a man who has been insane for twenty years or more. Certainly, he has been incapable of making a living under the conditions of open and competitive life. However, even after all these years, he is fairly strong physically. Probably he has never been a menace to anyone, though always he has been a trial to those of his family and household. In a well-regulated society his life might have been somewhat productive—at least enough so to have earned his keep. His deterioration followed the usual pattern.

NOT OF CONSEQUENCE.

J. B. writes: I have spots before my eyes for the last two months. They are very noticeable when I read. I am 30 years old and feel good.

REPLY.

As a rule floating specks before the eyes are of no consequence and call for no treatment. One should refuse to see them. Watching them float around is a cause of introspection and consequent worry. They are caused by minute floating particles in the fluids of the eyeball. In a small proportion of cases these spots are significant of disease of the eyeball.

THE IMPORTANCE OF LITTLE THINGS.

A GREAT many players fail to realize the importance of being continually on the qui vive during the play of a hand. A tendency to consider some seemingly minor plays as being of no importance frequently allows many apparently impossible contracts to be made. The following is an innocent enough looking hand, which was successfully defended and defeated by Mr. H. Huber Boscowitz at the Cavendish Club in New York. The play itself seems simple enough, but I wonder how many players would make this same play should the opportunity arise again.

East—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ A 3 2 ♡ K 7 6 2 ◇ J 8 7 6 5 ♣ 9
♠ K Q 7 5 ♡ 10 9 3 ◇ A 10 4 ♣ J 10 2	N W E S	♠ J 9 6 ♡ J 8 5 ◇ K ♣ A K Q 7 5 4
	♠ 10 8 4 ♡ A Q 4 ◇ Q 9 3 2 ♣ 8 6 3

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♣	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding may seem a little optimistic, but actually East and West did get within an inch of making the contract. Mr. Boscowitz, sitting North, chose as his Opening lead the fourth best diamond. Declarer won the trick in Dummy with the King, led a low club over to the Knave in his own hand and then laid down the spade 5. I am quite sure that most players would now unthinkingly play low, hoping that the Dummy could be topped by partner. Mr. Boscowitz, however, did not play carelessly, but paused to consider the situation. Obviously Declarer had a total of 6 club tricks available, plus the diamond Ace-King. South could not hold the diamond Ace, as he would certainly have captured the King with it on the first trick. Declarer, therefore, needed only one more trick, and if the spade Knave should hold, this one trick was automatically established. Why was he leading a spade immediately? Obviously because he must be afraid of some other suit, and the only missing suit is hearts. North therefore went right up with the spade Ace and led his fourth best heart. South caught on to the idea immediately and took the trick with the Ace, returning the Queen. When this held he led his last heart, and Mr. Boscowitz was able to cash the two setting tricks.

Obviously, if Declarer's plan had succeeded and Dummy's spade Knave had held the trick, he would have abandoned the spade suit and taken his 9 tricks immediately. His plan of campaign was undoubtedly the best, and I venture to say would have succeeded against nine out of ten players. Alertness at all times is a vital part of every strong player's game.

Today's Pointer.

Whether you are the Declarer or are playing on the defense, it is vitally important, if you wish to succeed in Contract, to be continuously on the alert. Even minor plays may be the difference between the making and the losing of a contract.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ Q J ♡ Q 10 3 ◇ 5 ♣ A K Q J 7 3 2
♠ K 8 6 ♡ J 6 4 ◇ K Q J 10 ♣ 8 5 4	N W - E S	♠ 9 4 2 ♡ A K 8 7 5 ◇ 9 3 ♣ 10 9 6
	♠ A 10 7 5 3 ♡ 9 2 ◇ A 8 7 6 4 2 ♣ —

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

IF YOU are Tallulah Bankhead's type, or if you like this famous star (and I don't see how any one can help doing that) you will be as interested as I was to hear her answers to some beauty questions.

The day I saw her, she wore maroon pajama pants and a blue coat. Most of the stars, by the way, seem to prefer living in pajamas, particularly at home and at the beach, some spend most of their time in pajamas, pants or slacks while on the set, too. Personally, I think they are very conducive to relaxation. Don't you? So, here's hoping you've been living in the cool and comfortable beach pajamas as much as possible this summer. And relaxing regularly. Relaxation, by the way, is one of the foremost beauty secrets of the screen stars, and of all stage stars, too.

But, back to Tallulah Bankhead. An amazing personality with her tawny shade of hair, a bit tousled, she seems shorter off the screen. The impression one would get is that she is tall, quite tall, as she portrays the exotic sweeping type, doesn't she? This Paramount star has a low, throaty voice, talks rapidly and thinks even more quickly than she talks. She is not only up to you, but ahead of you most of the time.

Asked: "Have you any special pet beauty secret," she answered:

"Hiking three miles every day."

She lives on the hills in Hollywood and walks constantly, sometimes covering five miles or more.

At bedtime, Miss Bankhead drinks two glasses of water, then a cup of warm milk. There's a worthwhile hint. She doesn't have to keep slender, she tries to gain weight; has no special diet, but pastries are taboo.

Her daytime makeup is a powder mixture of light ecru and flesh, no rouge on cheeks, but an orange lipstick. Instead of shadow, she uses a little oil on the eyelids during the daytime. This, by the way, is a beauty secret worth trying. For evening, Miss Bankhead usually chooses a lighter mixture of powder, a carmine lipstick, blue eyeshadow and blue mascara.

Beige, she considers her most flattering shade for street costumes and white for evening clothes. White, by the way, seems to be the popular choice for formal functions. You see evidence of it in the leading night clubs, theaters, rendezvous . . . But the stars could all wear white, yet each hold her own distinctive little place in the limelight. The expert cut of the gowns, the way they are worn, the accessories that go with them, the makeup and hairdress to say nothing of the many different shades of white (you wouldn't know there were so many varieties of the one color)—all these things account for the fact that they never look like "fire sale sisters."

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF August 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:35 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. and from 9 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:45 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Astrological conditions on August 16 appear too unsettled to point toward any glittering results, and progress will only be made through rigid, and perhaps painful effort. Personal attachments will suffer rude jolts, and family bickerings will be disrupting features of the day. Normalcy in health should prevail.

The child born on this August 16 will possess an even, amiable disposition, and will be proud of its personal appearance. Admiration will be the breath on life to one of its "make-up," and it will aim to please through its words or acts. It will not seek responsibility, and will rather shirk hard work.

You love the luxuries of life if born on August 16, and are a worshiper of things. Fine flowers are not grown by fairies, but by the man whose back is sore with digging, and so it is with many of the things for which you yearn but for which you will not dig. You would like to brush aside the tedious preliminary steps which most people have to take to reach the goals of their desire.

You may always continue to be one of the world's understudies, because you are unwilling to play second fiddle before you are skilled enough to attempt first. You are too afraid of public opinion, and have too much false pride to do many things which you would not only like but ought to do. Your convictions are not very stanch, and you generally travel with the crowd. Rather a poor judge of character, you will learn as you grow older to examine people's motives before accepting their statements in full.

A quick temper is a very serious handicap to you. Trifles cause you undue annoyance, although in an emergency you are cool and collected. You are very entertaining when in good spirits, but very poor company when you are feeling out of sorts. Your home life will be too full of "spats" to be an example of peace and harmony.

Successful people born on August 16:

Henry W. De Saussure, jurist.
Nathan Hale, journalist and author.
Amos Kendall, journalist.
George Jones, journalist.
James Walker, a president of Harvard College.
John Peirce, scientist.

"DECIDED UPTURN" SEEN IN BUSINESS

East Is Leading in Pick-Up, Grocery Manufacturers' President Says.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Business has made "a decided upturn" throughout the country, with improvement greatest in the manufacturing district of New England, Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, said today.

The East, in general, was showing the upturn more quickly than the Middle and Far Western States, he declared in an address before the association of manufacturers' representatives of New York.

Willis has completed a survey of conditions in the country's principal industrial centers.

"For the first time since 1929 all leading markets of the country are able to report something encouraging. On the subject of bright spots, we can point to many—as, for instance, the increasing market prices on hogs, cattle and sugar," he said.

Indications are this fall will bring increased purchasing power, better profits for industries and an improvement in the employment situation," said Willis.

Gainesville, Ga., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Two of Gainesville's largest textile plants resumed operations today after a shutdown since June 9.

WALKER TO RESIGN MAYOR'S POST IN FEW DAYS, IS REPORT

Curtin argued over the revelation of the name of a divorcee who had been Herrick's law client. Seabury sought to show that the divorcee had been sent to Herrick by the mayor. Herrick denied that, and when all except the witness agreed her name should go into the record Herrick objected and the audience, which had leaned forward expectantly, relaxed.

The bitterest argument of the third session of the hearing developed over Walker's denial that he authorized purchase by Sherwood of letters of credit for the "unknown person" whose identity has been concealed by Samuel Seabury, Hofstadter committee counsel.

"Do you know," the governor asked, "of any letters of credit purchased by Sherwood with your authorization?"

"Yes," Walker replied, and explained that in the winter and spring of 1930 Sherwood arranged credit letters for Mrs. Walker.

"Do you know of any other letters of credit?" Mr. Roosevelt persisted.

"Yes," Walker replied.

"Were any of them authorized by you?" was the governor's next question.

"They were not," the mayor answered emphatically.

Seabury jumped up and called the governor's attention to the mayor's identification before the Hofstadter committee of a $7,500 check made out by Sherwood to the "unknown person" who also received letters of credit.

Walker cried, "I'm testifying and he is not, but he's doing more testifying than I am."

As they shouted at each other, Walker accused Seabury of dressing up the evidence.

Remarks Stricken Out.

"That's just about as true as the answers to many of the questions that have been made," Seabury shouted back.

Walker again denied authorizing the letters of credit, adding:

"And may I add that person might have had charge accounts, might have bought clothes, might have bought real estate, even——"

Roosevelt calmly interfered and ordered the remarks stricken from the record.

Although Seabury contends Sherwood handled almost $1,000,000 for Walker, the mayor said the accountant's work for him was a courtesy of the law firm.

"Some one down there now performs the same services," Mr. Walker asserted.

Walker, although excited by Seabury's assertions, for the most part was calm. None of his assertions was tinged with wit. He made several aside remarks about Seabury that escaped Mr. Roosevelt or were ignored by him.

Shortly before the half-day's hearing session opened Mrs. Walker, recuperating from an operation, collapsed at St. Mary's Catholic Church while attending mass with her husband. She was quickly revived.

The hearing, now in its third day, showed no signs of terminating. Mr. Curtin tonight said he would call twelve witnesses, while James E. Finnegan, one of the complainants, has sent the names of 40 to the governor. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow at 10 a. m., Eastern standard time.

Gov. Roosevelt opened the day's session by calling Park Commissioner Herrick to the stand and asking him to explain the details of the Interstate Trust stock purchase.

Herrick said he had heard that fromer Gov. Silzer of New York was organizing a trust company and he asked Walker if there was a chance of getting a subscription.

"Wanted at City Hall."

"'If you don't want too much, I'll see what I can do for you,'" Herrick quoted the mayor as saying.

Stanton then told him that inasmuch as there were 300 shares available he 'might as well handle the whole thing,' he continued, and promised to send the money down.

"Did you know at that time where the shares were going?" the governor asked.

"I thought they were to be delivered at city hall," he replied.

"Did you understand the 300 shares were for the mayor?"

"No; I understood they were wanted at city hall, but I didn't know whom they were for."

The governor interrogated him closely as to who paid for the stock, and Herrick answered he "assumed" the money came from Stanton, whom he identified as the mayor's secretary at that time.

Herrick could not be certain, he said at another point, that Walker had told him he "had put up his interstate stock for collateral" on a loan to finance the Equitable Bus Co.—a statement he was quoted as making at the private hearing before the legislative committee.

On cross-examination Curtin asked the witness whether he had ever received any money directly from Walker in the transaction and whether he had delivered the stock to the mayor personally. His answer in both cases was a straight "No."

During an involved argument among Roosevelt, Curtin and Seabury at this juncture, Walker jumped to his feet and, pointing to Seabury, remonstrated: "If he does any more of that he must be sworn in."

Sherwood's name first entered the hearing when Herrick was asked if he knew the missing accountant and he replied that he did—"very well."

He had engaged in business transactions with Sherwood, he said, and had employed him several times as an expert accountant.

As Herrick stepped down, Mayor Walker was called to testify again and his counsel interrupted to move that counts 10 and 11, involving the missing Sherwood's activities, be stricken out on the grounds they pertained to "private and purely personal transactions."

"Rights of Privacy."

"Did you read my decision in the Farley case?" the governor interposed.

"Yes, but I still must insist that a public official must have the same rights to defend his privacy as a private citizen," Curtin retorted.

"It is still my policy regarding public officers in this State," the governor said with finality.

Roosevelt then began interrogating Walker on the Seabury contention that Sherwood sold to the Ungerleider concern certain securities at a price $22,000 more than their market value.

He did not know Sherwood had an account with Ungerleider's, Walker said, and he himself was acquainted only casually with the head of the firm.

Gov. Roosevelt turned directly to Sherwood's disappearance when he asked if Walker knew Fred C. Harris, president of the Mank of Manhattan. The mayor told him he knew Harris only slightly and could not remember having seen him with Sherwood.

Taking up the charge that Sherwood was Walker's personal accountant and had handled upward of $1,000,000 for him, the governor plunged into an exhaustive examination of their relationship.

"Did he have the right to sign checks for you?" he asked.

"He did not," Walker replied.

"Did he take care of your bank accounts?"

"He used to deposit my salary check when I'd send it down to the law office from City Hall."

Personal Check Books.

"Did he look after your personal check books?"

"They were kept at the law office. After I went into the City Hall I made up my mind I would not have any civil employe take care of personal matters for me."

"Sherwood took care of these matters for you?"

"He did, just as somebody else at the law office has since he left. He was not an employe of mine—he was not selected by me."

The questioning veered to letters of credit which Sherwood had arranged for Mrs. Walker in the winter and spring of 1930.

"I repeat," said Walker, "if Sherwood at that time had left that employ, some one in the office would have done it—as somebody is now."

RAIL CHIEFS TO AIR FINANCES THURSDAY

Likely to Seek Additional 5 Per Cent Wage Cut at Chicago Gathering.

Chicago, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Beset by financial worries, executives of most of the Nation's railroads will meet here Thursday for a general discussion of their problems with emphasis on operation economies and the wage situation.

J. W. Higgins, official of the Western Railways General Managers Association, said the wage situation would be dealt with, but refused to confirm rumors that employes would be asked to take a 5 per cent cut under the present wage scale. Union officials have not been invited to the parley.

"This is a preliminary meeting to discuss all of our problems," he said. "After our preliminary survey we likely will make recommendations to individual roads, but there will be no announcement following the meeting."

Early this year 21 unions accepted a 10 per cent deduction from the standard wage rate. Reports said the railroad executives would seek to extend that agreement for another year in addition to the 5 per cent cut. Union officials said they would oppose the extension.

Representatives of Western roads said if business improved they would not ask further wage cuts or deductions. The present wage agreement expires next February 1.

Carvane was taken from the soup line Saturday. Police said they found money in his pockets and a slip showing he had $7,320 on deposit in a bank.

Justice George Stocker sentenced him to serve 30 days at hard labor and pay a $250 fine on a vagrancy charge.

Auburn gives greater value for less cost—and proves it completely and conclusively in the crucible of speed. Why pay more and not enjoy the exclusive superiorities and safety obtainable only in the world's champion Auburn? We invite you to compare and drive exact duplicates of the Auburn Twelves that eclipse the highest attainments of all other stock cars.

Under supervision of the American Automobile Association, Auburn breaks all strictly stock open and closed car records for speed from 1 to 500 miles on the sun-baked floor of Muroc Dry Lake, California. Fastest time was 100.7746 Miles Per Hour for one mile.

POSSIBLE ONLY WITH Dual Ratio

Auburn is the only car that could establish all of these new records because Auburn is the only car with the greatest modern improvement in automobiles—DUAL-RATIO. Imagine touring at 60 miles-an-hour with only a 40 mile-an-hour engine-effort and fuel consumption. Dual-Ratio makes this possible, producing a smoothness never before known in any automobile. (We invite you to verify this claim.) It saves wear and tear on all moving parts, and prolongs the life of the entire automobile. To get ahead of other cars in traffic or climb hills without engine strain, you shift Dual-Ratio to "Low". But you do not have to continue to needlessly race your engine, as in other cars, when you come to level roads and open country—you shift Dual-Ratio to "High". Then the car races but the ENGINE LOAFS.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

While the campaign this year will undoubtedly turn upon the economic measures adopted to cope with the depression, it involves an issue that reaches much further than the present emergency. In his acceptance address President Hoover outlined a philosophy of government in its relations with business that is fundamentally opposed to the philosophy of Gov. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee, as thus far outlined. Gov. Roosevelt gives the impression that he regards the maintenance of fundamental principles as less important than emergency measures to meet present conditions.

President Hoover insists that "we must preserve the fundamental principles of our social and economic system." The system to which he refers is based on individual initiative, equality of opportunity and "ordered liberty." "It is only by this release of initiative, this insistence upon individual responsibility," he says, "that we accrue the great sums of individual accomplishment which carry this Nation forward." He vigorously challenges the idea that the solution of the country's problems is to be found in "haphazard experimentation or by revolution."

In times of dire emergency it is necessary for the Government to go to the support of private agencies and local governments to avoid chaos, but President Hoover insists that aid given in such cases "should be of such character as not to supplant or weaken, but rather to supplement and strengthen the initiative and enterprise of the people." When the emergency has passed, he says, these special agencies must be demobilized so that private initiative can once more function.

President Hoover does not deny that the Government might temporarily improve conditions by taking control of industry, but he rejects such short cuts in the belief that even if they should temporarily succeed, they would ultimately undermine and weaken the American social and governmental system. If any one supposed that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other agencies set up to counteract hard times are a step in the direction of permanent bureaucratic control by Government over business, the error is removed by the President's speech.

It is to be hoped that Gov. Roosevelt will reassure the public as to his attitude toward the established American system. About all that is known of the governor's views at present is that he is in favor of "bold experimentation" in the field of government and business relations, and that he would abolish "useless traditions."

This matter may not have a popular appeal to the electorate, but it is of vital importance to the Nation. President Hoover makes his position clear, and Gov. Roosevelt doubtless will do the same. The electorate would do well to give more attention to the fundamental principles that will shape the future growth of the United States.

VETERAN BENEFITS.

The generosity of the United States in the matter of post-war care and benefactions for its soldiers has repeatedly set new world records. To the soldiers of the Revolution and their dependents there was paid a total of $71,000,000, a sum considerably less than is being disbursed each month today to veterans. By comparison with the benefits extended to the veterans of former wars, or in relation to policies of other nations, the treatment of Americans who enlisted for the World War is more than liberal. These facts are made particularly clear in an address delivered at Chautauqua Lake on Saturday by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the Veterans' Administration.

Considering the accounts for post-war benevolence that have been settled, the war of 1812 cost $45,000,000, the war with Mexico some $60,000,000, and the Indian wars $53,000,000. Payments on account of the Civil War, covering a period of 67 years, have now reached the sum of more than $7,000,000,000. During the World War provision was promptly made for the temporary maintenance of the dependent families of men in the service and insurance afforded both officers and men at moderate rates. Vocational schools following the war trained more than 100,000 men for return to economic productivity at a cost of $625,000,000.

Congress promptly provided compensation for disabilities incurred in the service and to dependents of veterans killed in the war, as well as free hospitalization to veterans for service-connected disabilities. In former times it was not until many years after a war that a financial obligation to the ex-service man, whatever the cause of his disability, was recognized, but hospitalization and disability benefits are now open practically to all World War men. Today compensation is distributed to 330,000 disabled World War veterans, and in addition direct benefits are being paid to 407,500 World War veterans whose disabilities are not due to service. On June 30 43,334 veteran patients were in hospitals.

Comparing American war benefits with those of European countries Gen. Hines shows that Great Britain, with casualties other than death, totalling 4,266,000, has on her compensation rolls only 499,200 men; France with 4,950,000 casualties, pays 708,591 men, and the United States with 234,000 casualties, has 737,850 men on the compensation lists. This shows that of British casualties, one in eight secures compensation; of the French, one in seven, while in the United States more than three times the number registered as war casualties are receiving allowance of some kind. In fact the non-service disability payments now exceed those of war service by more than 77,000. American disbursements for veterans total nearly twice as much annually as similar expenditures by England and France combined.

The annual budget for veteran benefits today is approximately $1,000,000,000. Based on the number reported as either dead or wounded, the annual expenditure by Great Britain as a result of the World War is $58 per man; of France $51, and the United States, $2,658. Less than 6 per cent of the British budget goes for veterans' relief. In France it is 18 per cent, while in the United States it exceeds 25 per cent. These figures from Gen. Hines make it clear how unjust under present conditions are the various proposals for still further extending benefits to veterans who suffered no disability from service. So far from granting these demands without decided opposition, various national movements are organizing to demand, among other Federal economies, severe revision of the exorbitant total of payments to men whose service brought them neither injury nor illness.

DRYS TAKE NEW STAND.

The indorsement of President Hoover's candidacy by the Allied Forces for Prohibition signifies an important change in the tactics of the organized drys. Heretofore the professional sponsors of the eighteenth amendment have been adamant in their opposition to any one advocating modification. Now they are ready to join in the struggle and salvage whatever they can from the prohibition experiment.

Some of the more radical dry organizations choose to evade the issue so far as the presidential election is concerned and devote all their efforts to the election of dry congressmen. But this is merely a face-saving gesture. Every dry voter who goes to the polls may be expected to choose between the presidential candidates. Even though dry organizations may remain aloof from the presidential campaign, dry voters may remain in their respective parties.

To join in a third party movement of any kind would be useless. The drys have come to realize that if they stand for prohibition or nothing they will get nothing.

The reason why the Allied Forces voted to support President Hoover are significant. They are convinced that "his election will safeguard the gains made under prohibition, will move toward the elimination of existing evils resulting from non-observance and non-enforcement in some communities, will prevent naked repeal and the return of the saloon system * * * and will confirm the principle of Federal control for a national problem."

Those groups which cling to the eighteenth amendment, refusing to accept any compromise or any improvement in the present unsatisfactory conditions, will find themselves left to one side, because one or the other of the great parties will win. The country will not stand still.

GET THE POLICE MURDERER.

The unprovoked murder of Policeman George Shinault calls for the utmost efforts of the authorities to secure the arrest and punishment of his slayer. Policeman Shinault was shot by a man he never saw as he entered the yard of a house which he was ordered to visit. He had no opportunity to explain his mission or to defend himself. He died without a chance, a martyr to the peace and order of the Capital.

The assassin is known and an intensive search has been set on foot by the police. It must be prosecuted with every resource of the department and all necessary help enlisted from surrounding States, that an example may be made of the author of this latest outrage. There is no connection between the killing of Policeman Shinault and the fact that he was the officer who shot a veteran during the bonus riot last month when he was attacked. The assailant named as Shinault's slayer was not a member of the bonus army, and it appears evident the policeman was killed in cold blood.

It is plain that many bad characters are amply provided with guns. There should be the strictest possible enforcement of the new law regulating the sale of firearms in the District, and every effort made to keep deadly weapons out of the hands of questionable characters and known criminals.

DEPRESSION CHANGES.

It is inevitable that before a depression is over the optimists begin pointing out the benefits to be derived from an experience with hard times. Nor is the reasoning always illusory. Probably never in the course of any of the long series of panics followed by lean years has so much earnest attention been given to investigating causes, planning recovery and devising means to avert or mitigate the evil effects of repetitions, as during the present depression. Not only the theorists, but the practical minds of business as well are devoting much study to economic, financal and labor problems.

It seems certain at this stage that there will not again be a precipitate return to unbridled overproduction as soon as market demands revive. There has been no general economic council established, as many desire, to afford the checks and balances for industry that would equalize supply with requirements of markets at home and abroad. Sagacious leaders have questioned the possibility of such an organization being effective except under Federal authority, and they doubt the advisability of such a sweeping change.

But without a national organization various industries and large manufacturing units, as well as agricultural interests, are preparing as never before to gather information which will enable them to gauge consumption demands more accurately, and Government reports will be available to assist in this direction. Various trade organizations are making an earnest campaign to secure reasonable modifications of the anti-trust laws for the purpose of avoiding wasteful competition and duplication.

One great and welcome improvement, the benefits of which are already beginning to be realized, is the improved relation between capital and labor. No other depression has ever been so free from serious employment troubles. Officials and employes in all lines have met and adjusted their differences in a new spirit of compromise and consideration for mutual rights and interests. Labor will hereafter be given more consideration in the division of profits, and provisions never before contemplated will be made to spread employment in times of slack demand so that the extreme penalties of unemployment will not fall upon a few.

The larger mass problems are receiving much attention and publicity, and yet it may readily prove to be true that the greatest benefits to be derived from the depression will be the new standards, new visions of comfortable and happy existence, that have come to millions of individuals and families. The hectic activities of the boom years were not confined to the stock market, the banks and the factories. They invaded home life. Social competition was no less keen. Emulation and display reached unwonted extremes. A great many families have learned that simpler living has its charms; that it is possible to be happy with one car and without even a single yacht. Home life has gained something since the mad pace has slackened. For many Americans some benefits in the way of rational living have been gained that never will be lost.

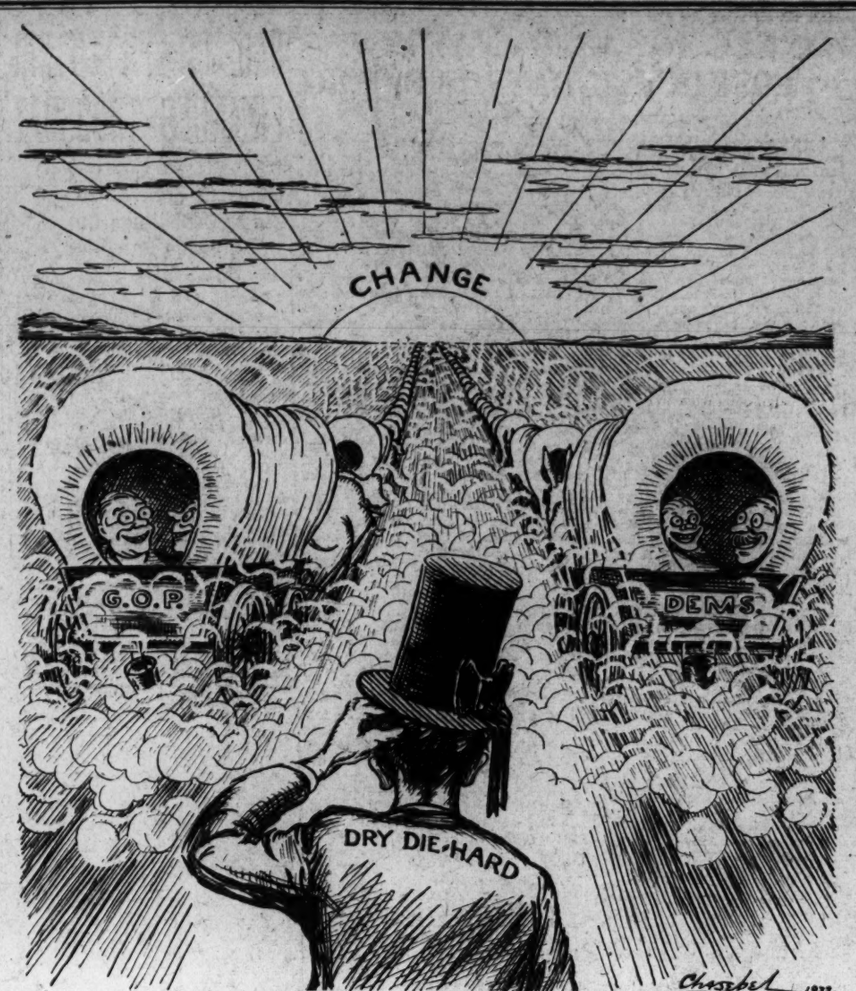
THE PERSONALITY TEST

From the Boston Transcript.

The earliest Presidents were all elected on their personal merits. The unanimous election of Washington was eminently the choice of the most loved, revered and trusted person in the Nation. It was "personality" in its highest and purest development. Washington's immediate successors were all chosen on the basis of their personal claims. Such opposition as developed to the first Adams was largely on personal grounds. If political questions arose, as, for instance, the clash between Federalism and Democracy, they were largely subordinated to, or expressed in, the persons of the candidates. And personal rivalries in those days became very keen; too much so, no doubt.

Following the early elections, our fathers or predecessors certainly waged intensely personal campaigns in the election of Jackson, of Van Buren, of Harrison, of Taylor, of Lincoln, of Grant, of Garfield, of the second Harrison, of Cleveland, of McKinley, of Roosevelt (very particularly), of Wilson, of Coolidge and of Hoover; and personal considerations invariably predominated in the rejection of their opponents. The people, in fact, are always faced with a choice between men, and it is natural—nor is it undesirable—that they should be governed very largely by their opinion and experience of the personal merits of the men for whom they vote, and the demerits, or supposed demerits, of the candidates whom they reject. It was a poet, Oliver Goldsmith, who invented the slogan, "Measures, not men." This was a watchword better adapted to a constitutional monarchy and a purely parliamentary system like that of Britain than to a representative republic like ours; but Burke denounced the watchword as "cant," and the tendency even of Englishmen was to agree with him. With us, the principle of delegation of authority has the effect to concentrate attention upon the qualities of individuals rather than upon the asseverations of platforms, which often assimilate very closely.

We may well deprecate conditions in which charges of deceit, dishonesty, selfishness, ignorance and unpatriotism fill the air. When personality descends to detraction, no good can result. But no amount of concentration upon measures rather than men can obscure the fact that our rulers must and should be chosen for their character and their wisdom and rejected when character and wisdom are lacking. The people may err in their estimate of the persons who demand their suffrage, but it is they who must decide who is the superior person and they will ever demand the best information on that point. The people are likely, now as ever, to be guided by their experience with presidential candidates, and their observation of their record as men and public servants, in making their choice.



All Alone!

POST HASTE

The prize campaign anomaly is the number of people who protest that prohibition is not a political issue, but talk of nothing else.

You understand, of course, that any market slumps which occur now are purely technical, and must be welcomed as corrective reactions.

The German republic has had four elections this year, but, apparently, it will take one more to determine whether the country is to have a dictatorship or a monarchy.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CAPT. CHARLES C. ANDERSON.

Coast Guard Captain Anderson, sitting by the fire
Through the blustery days of March after you retire,
If you think of us at night kneeling down to pray,
Many, many, many times this is what we'll say:
"Lord, we thank You for his strength and his courage rare,
Who went to little Janet in her moment of despair;
Heard her call and went to her and brought her safe to shore—
Coast Guard Captain Anderson—bless him, more and more"

Coast Guard Captain Anderson, never shall you know
All the debt of gratitude which to you we owe,
But whenever Janet smiles through the years to be,
Yours the strength which kept that smile safe for us to see!
And whenever Janet laughs, "Yours the strength," we'll say,
"Which spared that laughter unto us upon a summer's day.
Deep the water where she slipped with her playmates, two;
Joy had turned to tragedy, Captain, but for you!"

Coast Guard Captain Anderson, sitting by the fire
Through the blustery days of March after you retire,
It may be your record long few will stop to read,
But upon our hearts there's stamped one remembered deed.
Service files may merely show duty always done,
But we'll tell of tender things high admirals seem to shun.
In our memories you'll dwell courageous to the end—
Coast Guard Captain Anderson—our Janet's gallant friend!

If He Can No Longer Borrow a Neighbor's Ax, He Must Learn to Sharpen His

By ROBERT QUILLEN

ANY increase of prosperity that America may enjoy in the near future must be attained by increasing the earnings of the poor.

The explanation is simple and obvious.

For many years America enjoyed peculiar advantages. Great natural resources and liberty provided opportunity. The Constitution required States to admit one another's products duty-free and thus made this the largest free trade area in the world. And import duties that kept out the products of "foreign pauper labor" gave Americans a monopoly of their own market.

Year after year the country exported more than it imported and increased in wealth and luxury. Americans prospered at the expense of other people.

But it was too good to last. After the war, desperate and envious nations began to copy America's system. A few had levied import duties or tariffs to protect their young industries from outside competition. These increased their rates. Others adopted special taxes to keep out American goods. England and her dominions are now trying to agree on a plan that will enable them to exchange goods with little or no tax and yet protect all of them from American competition.

Now that the shoe is on the other foot, Americans complain of unfairness. But other nations have a right to protect themselves from competition they can not meet, and they will do it despite all protests.

What then? Shall America quit her established policy and agree to admit all goods duty-free if other nations will? The answer is that the late "shoe king" of Europe, paying pauper wages, was able to manufacture shoes, pay freight across the Atlantic, pay the import tax, and still sell them below the American cost of manufacture.

What if America's foreign market is reduced by half? At best it provided work for only two million of our people. If one million are left idle, another job can be found for them.

Develop new markets at home. How? By enabling our poor to buy more goods. We have learned that higher wages make better customers. Every poor man made prosperous means another cash customer for comforts and luxuries.

There are millions who have too little, even in normal times. Make small incomes greater and great incomes smaller. That will provide market enough.

The man with a million-dollar income can wear only one shirt. Divide that income into units of $2,000 and you have a market for 500 shirts.

Gene Tunney says he has no desire to be a United States senator. The retired champion probably feels he would look like an amateur among that group of expert side-steppers and blockers.

Gov. Roosevelt's Problem.
Fargo (N. Dak.) Forum.

Due to the method of the development of the Roosevelt candidacy, it would seem that he is undertaking quite a balancing act if he can get business generally to accept his assurances that it has nothing to fear from him, and, at the same time, continue to play with some of the more rampant Western and Southern ringleaders of his preconvention campaign. He can't play too strongly with business without creating some suspicion in the minds of some of these chief promoters of his nomination, who feel that they have a first mortgage on the chief bandwagon seats and possible after-the-election plums in case of Democratic victory. And if he permits the Huey Longs, the Burton K. Wheelers and the Senator Dills of his party to cash in on their claims of priority rights, the business East and business generally is going to be hard to convince that he is safe for business.

No One Can Tell.
Brooklyn Eagle.

Much has been made of the effect of the Walker case upon the political fortunes of Gov. Roosevelt. There will be a political effect, but to assume that a decision could be based upon political considerations would be a mistake, for the simple reason that no one could possibly calculate in advance the effect of a decision for or against Mayor Walker.

Party Lines Broken.
Chicago Tribune.

Congress abandoned party government in its recent session, broke down party lines and did away with party discipline. The logic of that should appeal to the voters. It is to ignore in congressional elections what the congressmen themselves chose to ignore, party affiliations. What divided the congressmen when they scuttled their party connections and responsibilities was the expenditure of public money. That is the issue which their constituents should accept just as it has been handed to them by the men they elected.

Republicans and Democrats in Congress divided upon money bills and theories back of them, fusing not as party men, but as supporters of one of two theories—one that taxes and appropriations should redistribute wealth in the United States; the other that Government will ruin the country if it does not confine itself to its original constitutional purpose.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Prof. Miller Thinks Definition of "Saloon" Impossible—Republican Proposal Therefore Unacceptable.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The eighteenth amendment forbids the manufacture, transportation and sale of intoxicating liquor within the United States. The first difficulty confronted in the attempt to enforce this amendment was to define intoxicating liquor. Congress defined it in terms of the percentage of the alcoholic content. Although expressed in terms of chemical and arithmetical exactness, the definition utterly fails to give general satisfaction.

The substitute as proposed by the Republican platform and approved by its candidate, in substance, would read as follows: "Intoxicating liquors may be manufactured, transported and sold within the United States, but must not be sold in a saloon." This immediately raises the question, "What is a saloon?" In its lexicographical meaning and general acceptance, a saloon is a place wholly or chiefly devoted to dispensing intoxicating liquor to be consumed on the premises. It does not include such places as restaurants, hotels or taverns, where the dispensing and drinking of liquor is but an incident to their main business of feeding, lodging and entertaining their customers.

The first insuperable difficulty of this proposal will be one of definition. Unfortunately, Congress will not have the exact sciences of chemistry and mathematics to fall back on, as in cases of the Volstead Act. All of the aggregate lexical dexterity of Congress can hardly fabricate a definition which will not be disputed with convincing plausibility. Whatever definition is adopted, the Supreme Court will have finally to pass upon it. This august tribunal is loth to enter the field of lexicography. The fifteenth amendment is based on "race and color." Although innumerable cases have arisen for litigation under this amendment, yet we nowhere find a definition of these terms among the various judicial decisions.

This is but the beginning of sorrows. How can the Government hope to confine the selling of liquor to the saloon? Will not the lawbreaker be disposed to violate the law limiting the place of sale, as he now is the law against the manufacture and sale? If his customers under the proposed substitute would be fewer his loopholes would be correspondingly greater.

I think that all will agree that the eighteenth amendment should stand until some feasible, enforceable substitute is found. Such a proposal is certainly not discernible in the Republican proposal.

Seer of Newport News Tells Why He Thinks Roosevelt Will Sweep the Country.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As a reader of The Post let me predict that Roosevelt will carry New York by a vast majority and the entire South and Middle West will be in his column when the count is taken this coming November. The growing popularity of Roosevelt is a little short of amazing, and indicates supporters from all classes and sections, not to mention the wets, the farmers, the World War Veterans, and the unemployed, which, like the small business men of the country, seem to back Roosevelt and Garner 100 per cent. If Hoover is reelected President, then the days of "miracles" are with us again, but there seems to be little chance, notwithstanding the fact that big business always casts its lot away from the Democratic party.

Complains of Too Much Advertising Over the Radio—He Can Shut It Off and Does.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Day by day the volume of radio advertising increases, and more and more it becomes my solemn duty to myself and family to twist the dial, as I always do, and shut off the cheap harangue with which these spielers for somebody's toilet soap or stomach tablets would assail my ears.

Sometimes a single station will attempt to put over as many as ten different ads inside of an hour. I say "attempt," for that is as far as these noisy fellows ever get with me. If I can't have a program that isn't being constantly interrupted by flashes of cheap commercialism, I would rather sit down and put in the time twiddling my thumbs.

I know of so many people like myself who have the ad-suppression habit that I wonder who ever listens to these dull, drab, nasal broadcasts.

Ability of President Hoover to Get Things Done Appeals to One Who Heard Speech.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We have listened to Mr. Hoover's acceptance of the nomination for the candidate for President by the Republican party. We caught the note of sincerity in his expressed desire to be of help to all the people of the United States, and to the world as well. I for one forgot political parties, save where he specifically mentioned them. When one considered the whole address, one realized his thoroughness and his ability to mobilize forces (save perhaps Mr. Garner in Congress) to execute his well thought-out plans. He knows conditions better than any one else in the United States. Let us give him the opportunity to realize his great plans to better conditions along all lines.

West Virginian's Asthma Fast Cure Is in 52d Day

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Reclining most of the time on a pine board without bedding as a part of the treatment," Louis Garden was in his fifty-second day of fasting today in efforts to cure asthma.

Despite efforts of officers and aid societies to make him eat, Garden has refused food since June 24. He is very weak. Copious amounts of mineral water constitute his diet. Garden fasted a month last year in another attempt to halt his illness.

Birth-Control War To Be Nation-Wide

Catholic Daughters Decide on Extending Fight at Directorate Meeting.

The fight against birth control, which has long been carried on in a quiet manner by the Catholic Daughters of America, will soon reach national proportions, it was announced yesterday by Miss Mary C. Duffy, supreme regent of the organization, following the morning session of the directorate meetings being held in the Mayflower Hotel.

The nationalization program was decided upon following reports of the successful campaign conducted by local organizations. A luncheon and tour of inspection at Catholic University featured the afternoon activities. The national officers were guests of the Rev. Maurice Sheehy, assistant to the rector at the university. Later Miss Duffy laid a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and headed brief exercises at the newly dedicated memorial statue of James Cardinal Gibbons at Sixteenth street and Park road northwest.

Many of those attending the meeting went to St. Peter's Church, Second and C streets southeast, early yesterday, when Miss Mary Easby-Smith, former Washington lawyer, took the veil. The meeting will close with a banquet at the Mayflower tonight.

31 Legionnaires Here Join "Khaki Shirts"

The "Khaki Shirts of America," the organization sponsored by the leaders of the dispersed bonus army, received 31 new members last night, all of whom are connected with the Victory Post, American Legion, Drum and Bugle Corps.

The men joined after Capt. Eugene F. Everett, national treasurer of the organization, addressed the meeting of the post.

B. E. F. HID ARMS HERE, JOHNSON SAYS to take part in the World War. He was the sponsor in 1923 of the original measure creating the Veterans' Bureau and has since been itimately associated with veteran activities throughout the country.

Riot Eye Witness.

"I have made a thorough study of every phase of the bonus army; was personally acquainted with many of the men, who served with me in the Army, but left Washington when they knew riots were going to start; saw the riot personally on Pennsylvania avenue; was there when the troops were brought in, and have seen Government records from beginning to end," he told the veterans.

"I can prove that there was dynamite and caps to explode it, arms and ammunition, in the bonus camp at one time—and it will be proven at the proper time."

Before the New York group publicly launched their campaign for the march on Washington, Representative Johnson charged, they arranged with the International Labor Defense to assist them if they encountered legal obstacles.

"The bonus march on Washington was initiated by the Workers Ex-service Men's League, a Communistic organization, on February 11, 1932," Representative Johnson continued, "and in the Daily Worker, a Communistic paper, dated May 17th, 18th, 20th and 21st, plans for the march were all detailed by the Communists. In order to make money out of the program the Communists charged an initiation fee of 25 cents and dues of 5 cents a week."

Names Five Communists.

Mr. Johnson named five well-known Communist leaders, who were prominent in the organization of the march or publicly identified with its newspaper support.

"Testimony taken on July 5, 1932, in Detroit by the Department of Labor, Bureau of Immigration, shows conclusively that men connected with the so-called Ford riots in Detroit were connected with the bonus marchers in Washington."

Recalling the outbreak of the rioting on lower Pennsylvania avenue, Representative Johnson lauded the "extraordinary restraint" shown by the police there.

"There are dozens of photographs in existence actually showing men throwing bricks and knocking down policemen," he said. "Blood was flowing from the policemen, who used the most extraordinary restraint to keep from killing dozens of the rioters. I have seen these photographs.

"And with these pictures in existence, of course, some of these men will be picked up and convicted for attempted murder."

DR. AYALA DECLARES FOR PEACE IN CHACO

New Paraguayan President, However, Says Nation Will Defend Rights.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Paraguay will do everything in her power to prevent war with Bolivia, but is determined to defend her territorial sovereignty if a peaceable settlement is impossible, Eusebio Ayala declared today at ceremonies marking his inauguration as president of the nation.

The new president asserted that Paraguay is and always has been ready to submit the conflict over the Gran Chaco to any conciliatory tribunal.

For 25 years, he said, Bolivia has been advancing systematically in the western Chaco, which she now occupies by force of arms, and all this time Paraguay has made repeated moves to submit the dispute to arbitration.

Mobilization by Paraguay is proceeding because of Bolivia's threatening attitude, Dr. Ayala said, despite the fact that it means tremendous sacrifices to the nation.

The new president, who is 57 years old, has served as a teacher of philosophy, political science and sociology at the National University during his long political career. At one time he was Paraguay's envoy at Washington.

ments in what amounted to an embargo on Canadian grain and flour.

Mr. Chamberlain's idea was not new. It has been promoted in one form or another in the United States in respect to wheat and cotton ever since the creation of the Federal Farm Board. It is understood Stanley M. Bruce, leader of the Australian delegation, attacked it strongly.

Closer contact between empire motion picture film producers and censorship authorities has been recommended in the report of the conference subcommittee on films and radio. Such cooperation, it was suggested, might result in preventing what was called mutilation of films.

Under present conditions a film made in London for empire circulation might not conform to censorship regulations in some of the dominions. Consequently, before it was shown in that dominion, it would be "mutilated" to the extent necessary to bring it within the regulations.

No recommendation regarding film distribution was made in the report and it was understood that a quota for British films in Canada was not dealt with.

In respect to radio, the report recommended a closer liaison between the responsible bodies in control throughout the British commonwealth, suggesting that a drawing together would assist in insuring greater accessibility of radio programs. No mention of radio equipment was contained in the report, nor did it suggest any plan of concerted action of commonwealth representatives at the coming world radio conference at Madrid.

Man Held in U. S. Job 'Fixing' Game

Complaint of Government Workers Results in His Arrest.

Complaints of Government employes that a man, representing himself as a close friend of a high Federal official, offered to guarantee the permanence of their jobs in return for a fee, resulted in the arrest of the man yesterday by headquarter's detectives.

Joseph Piggott, who gave his address as 106 C street northeast, was held for questioning, after he was said by police to have accepted four marked one-dollar bills as payment for "fixing things" for an employe of the Interior Department. A letter mentioning the employe's name and signed with the name of the public official was used, according to police, to intimidate messengers and clerks in the Government service.

Detective Sergeants C. E. Mansfield and N. W. Hodkinson said Piggott did not deny accepting the money, but claimed, they stated, that the letter was genuine and that he was able to insure a permanent position in the Federal service for Government workers who were liable to discharge or salary reduction.

WHO SAID "DEPRESSION?"

AIN'T it funny what a difference just a few points make? Three weeks ago the Average American was six shades deeper than Barnum's Indigo Man and so pessimistic that he was talking of retiring to the bottom of a deep well and living on water bugs. Today he has the complexion of a white man again and is broadcasting over a national network on the futility of despair.

* * * * *

What did it? The stock market came to a boil.

* * * * *

In the anything-but-merry month of June, Ambrose P. Glutz was under the bed hiding from shadows and muttering curious impressions to the effect that the American people would never know three square meals a day again. Today he is leaping from chandelier to chandelier singing the "Star Spangled Banner" and asking for price quotations on twelve-cylinder roadsters.

* * * * *

What did it? The stock market stopped playing dead.

* * * * *

Last May the Man Next Door wore the expression of a man about to be shoved off the dock, and spent the day fighting imaginary wolves and declaring that by next winter raw potatoes would be the great American delicacy. Today he is out in the flower garden turning handsprings and declaring it was all an optical illusion.

* * * * *

What did it? The stock market suddenly manifested a conviction that great corporations like United States Steel, American Telephone and Consolidated Gas were not going to merge with Shoe Strings, Common.

* * * * *

During the first six months of 1932 Luke P. Biznessman was giving a perfect imitation of a sick hen in a blizzard and expressing a grave fear that it would be five years before he would have any use for a cash register. Today he looks like Maurice Chevalier's double, whistles in his sleep and shouts, "I told you right along that this depression stuff was being overdone."

* * * * *

What did it, boys and girls? The stock market came out of a three-year coma.

* * * * *

Yesterday Captains of Industry were hiding in the cyclone cellars, jumping at strange noises and refusing to say a word for publication. Today they are back at the mahogany desks, registering Restored Confidence for the cameramen and telling newspaper reporters, "There was never any reason for alarm. The American people are too easily scared."

* * * * *

Why all the change? The stock market turned around and went the other way.

* * * * *

Only a few hours ago father was sitting on the back porch mistaking rabbits for wolves and refusing to have his teeth fixed, on the ground it would be an extravagance. Today he is back in his sports suit on the front veranda warbling, "Happy Days Are Here Again," and promising to see his dentist twice a year.

* * * * *

Last month mother was refusing to have visitors or buy a new dress and letting her looks go to pot because she couldn't afford to have her hair done. Now she has bought a new outfit, treated herself to a $10 permanent wave and phoned all the girls to come over and play bridge for cash prizes!

* * * * *

What's the cause of the sudden change? You disclose it, Chidsey; we stutter.

Judgment Vindicated.

WELL, it's the biggest summer in fou. years for the "I told you so" boys.

Nice Doggie!

The business outlook is so improved that the wolves are leaving the doors in droves and going back to work as apartment house police dogs.

The Answer—And Some Others.

Chairman Farley of the Democratic national committee says that the broad market rise was due entirely to the peoples belief that a Democratic victory is certain.

Other reasons currently assigned are:

1—The discovery by Babe Ruth that he hits better with the weight on the other foot.

2—News that Smedley Butler has lost his voice.

3—The belief on the part of the American public that Libby Holman will be acquitted.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

THE Federal Radio Commission's recently created division of field operations declares that with broadcasting and commercial communication stations maintaining strictly their assigned frequencies, radio generally is now better regulated than ever before.

The response of the broadcasting stations to the frequency-maintenance order has been excellent and recent regular tests and checks show very few violations of frequency control regulations by commercial stations.

Ed Wynn will be heard again in his familiar role as the Fire Chief (WRC, 8:30 o'clock) tonight. Don Voorhees and his orchestra and a double quartet will furnish the musical background for Wynn.

Shoes, shirts and buttons may be just articles of clothing to some people, but to Ed Wynn they are of such things as superstitions are made. The shoes are the famous patched and tattered brogans the laugh maker has worn at every stage and radio performance in the past 26 years. The shirt is nearly as old, but he hasn't worn it as often. It is the regulation long-sleeved gymnasium shirt which nearly all actors wear under their stage costumes. Wynn wore this particular one on the opening night of the Ziegfeld Follies of 1914. It was his first big chance on Broadway. He became famous overnight and, as the shoes were 8 years old then, he attributed his success to the shirt and has worn it at every opening night since. The only time he failed to do so the show was a flop.

The buttons are from the uniform of a friend who went through a score of airplane duels safely in the World War. Wynn believes they are good luck pieces, and always carries one of them in his pocket when he is on the stage or before the microphone.

ARTHUR TRACY, the street singer of the air, will open with songs from Romberg's "Student Prince" when he appears with Nat Shilkret's orchestra on "Music That Satisfies" (WMAL, 9 o'clock) tonight. The lyric tenor also will sing, in German, Schubert's "Serenade," "Copa del Ovida" and "Strange Interlude."

The Radio Commission yesterday received an application from Station WOL for permission to change from 1,310 kilocycles and 100 watts to 1,240 kilocycles and 250 watts.

88 Amateurs Vie Today In Trials

Chevy Chase Is Scene of Qualifying for National Golf.

38 District Golfers in Group Seeking 19 Available Berths.

By DAVE HERMAN.

OVER rolling hills of a course famous for its traps and tricky greens, an army of 88 golfers will open its attack on Old Man Par this morning to determine which 19 players will represent the Middle Atlantic section in the national amateur tournament at Five Farms, Baltimore, September 12 to 17.

Chevy Chase's links, measuring 6,538 yards from the back tees, will be the battleground, with siege guns from Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina brought into combat with the finest Simon-pure golf strength mustered from District ranks. It will be a 36-hole ordeal.

While the general belief is that the Nation's Capital, which will have 38 representatives, will grab anywhere from eight to ten places, close observers of the ancient Scotch game are of the opinion that the visiting linksmen will be "right up with the leaders."

Barnett Predicts Winning Sore of 139-144

Bob Barnett, popular Chevy Chase tutor, who knows every blade of grass on his home course, thinks the winning score will run between 139 and 144, with a pair of 79s to qualify. Par is 69.

"Of course this is merely guesswork," Bob stated, "but our course is in ideal shape for low scoring."

As the battle goes on today it will be interesting to note that only two of the participants got by the qualifying rounds of the 1931 national amateur classic at Beverly Country Club, Chicago. They are 20-year-old Billy Howell, of Richmond, Va., winner of last year's sectional test, and Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., only a youngster of 18. Both Howell, Walker Cup nominee, who burned up the Chevy Chase course with a 68 on Sunday, and Harper, who also has been playing some dazzling golf, are expected to coast through easily in the select class, with the former rated a strong favorite to lead the field, should his putter hold him in good stead. In the national event last year Howell eliminated Johnny Goodman, of Nebraska. Owen Covey, of Utah, and Lester Bolstad, of Minneapolis, before Francis Oulmet, the champion, whipped him in the semifinals, 2 and 1. Harper bowed in the first round to George T. Dunlap, jr., of New York, 3 and 2.

Pitt Among Group of Favorites

Another of the ranking favorites in the competition is Harry G. Pitt, of Manor, District titleholder, whose golf of late has been of a championship caliber. Other crack District players figured as good bets to qualify are Miller B. Stevinson, Roland Mackenzie, former national amateur semifinalist and Walker Cup star, and Thomas B. Bones, jr., of Columbia; Johnny Shorey and Maurice Nee, of Manor; M. Parker Nolan, long-hitting ace and Luther C. Steward, of Congressional; C. Ashmead Fuller and Reggie Loftus, of Chevy Chase; J. F. Baggett, of Beaver Dam; Roger Peacock and J. William Harvey, of Indian Springs and Ralph S. Fowler, of Washington Golf and Country Club.

Baltimore's topnotchers will include B. Warren Corkran, State champion; Henry A. Parr 3d, Don McPhail, Alec Knapp and Ernie Caldwell.

To C. Ashmead Fuller, of Chevy Chase; Harris Jones, of Baltimore, and Miller Stevinson, of Columbia, will go the honor of teeing off first. They will unlimber their clubs at 8:30, with other threesomes to follow at six-minute intervals. The afternoon's journey begins at 12:30.

The practice skirmishes at Chevy Chase were concluded yesterday, with Harry G. Pitt, galloping around the course with even par 69 score. Pitt approached the seventeenth, needing a par of fours for a 67, but fate conspired against him and he took fives on each hole. Pitt played in a foursome with Billy Howell, who took 71 strokes; Walter McCallum and Ralph Fowler.

Vines Twice Winner at Newport

National Champion Is Beaten in One Set by Arnold Jones.

Lott, Allison, Other Stars Advance in Casino Tourney.

By BILL KING.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—With the national tennis championships just around the corner, the greatest collection of racquet wielders of the American turf assembled here today for the opening rounds of the historic Newport Casino tournament.

Several of the brightest stars were regaining their land legs after returning from the Davis Cup wars, others were making their first start on grass and the play was far below the standard expected from such a galaxy.

Ellsworth Vines, national champion and last year's Casino winner, was in competition for the first time since he defeated Henri Cochet in the international finale and showed only a few flashes of his skill as he upset two opponents to gain the third round. Vines drew a tarter in his second round play, Arnold Jones, of Providence.

This seasoned Rhode Islander won the first set, 9—7, rising to great heights at the exact moment Vines' forehand shots faltered. This setback convinced the defending champion that it would be fatal to experiment and he steadied down, put on the pressure and swept through 12 of the next 13 games to win the match, 7—9, 6—1, 6—0. Vines defeated Hugh L. Kelleher, of New York, 6—3, 6—4, in his opening match.

Austin Keeps Pace With Vines

The top-seeded foreign star, Henry W. ("Bunny") Austin, England's premier player, kept pace with Vines with little or no effort. He got out of the first round by crushing Huntington Hartford, New York, 6—0, 6—2, and his second victim was Robbert ("Lefty") Bryan, of Chattanooga, by a 6—2, 6—0 margin.

Wilmer Allison, who shared the American Davis Cup singles assignment with Vines, drew a first-round bye and then conquered Clyde Adams, also of Texas, 6—2, 6—1. Frederick W. Perry, second seeded Britisher, was just as impressive against George Holloway, New York, in another second rounder.

George Lott, of Chicago, seeded fourth, and Ted Avory, England, fifth on the foreign list, entered the fourth round. Both had first-round byes and two victories to jump the field by a bracket.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, yesterday's winner in the Eastern turf championships at Rye, N. Y., failed to put in an appearance and his opening play with H. H. Bassford, jr., New York, was put over until tomorrow.

Gold Cup Winner Enters Race Here

Dodge's Delphine IV to Seek President's Cup September 16-17.

Seven years old, but more frisky than ever, Horace E. Dodge's Delphine IV, which raced to a sensational win in the Gold Cup tests off Montauk Point last Saturday, will compete in the President's Cup regatta here September 16 and 17, along with the five other boats which ripped the Montauk spray in the Gold Cup meet.

The Delphine IV, which rides high out of water and bobs along like a frightened kangaroo, kept up a tremendous average of 57.77 for the 90-mile course Saturday. For 30 miles it averaged 59 miles an hour, a tremendous test for hulk, crew and engines.

Bill Horn, pilot, and Charles F. Graffin, his Methodist preacher mechanic, will again be in the championship boat when it squares off on the Potomac, along with such other nationally known craft as the Delphine V, John Shibe's Arctic Tern, and perhaps his new Miss Philadelphia, John Wanamaker's Louisa, George Reis' defending President Cup winner, El Lagarto and the Red Bank Yacht Club's speedy Miss Columbia.

Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank, was appointed treasurer of the regatta committee yesterday.

PIRATES FAIL TO HALT ROBINS

Brooklyn Wins, 11-6; Within 1½ Games of Leaders.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Dodgers, continuing their headlong dash toward the top of the National League, advanced within a half game of second place and one and one-half games of the pace-setting Cubs, as they humbled the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11 to 6, in the only game played in the major leagues today.

In accounting for their twentieth win in their last 25 games and handing the second-place Pirates their fourteenth defeat in 15 games, the Dodgers scored all of their runs in the first two innings. Nine of the runs crossed the plate in the first frame and two in the second.

Meine and Harris Pounded

Heinie Meine started on the mound for the Pirates, but was forced to give way to Bill Harris in the first. Harris, in turn, was sent to the showers in the second inning. Chagnon finished the game, holding the Dodgers scoreless.

The Dodgers pounded out six hits in their big first inning, and Taylor made two of them—a triple and a single. Errors by the youthful Pittsburgh keystone combination—Piet and Vaughan—also helped the Dodgers.

The Pirates were unable to make any headway against Joe Shaute's southpaw slants until the fourth, when Gus Suhr came through with a homer to score two runs. Another run crossed the plate in the eighth and three more in a desperate but futile ninth-inning rally.

Bats, Uniforms, Gate Attached at Nashville

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The "razzing" of a fan and the pugnacity of John "Shine" Cortazzo, Birmingham shortstop, have combined to involve Cortazzo and the Nashville and Birmingham Baseball Clubs in litigation.

A fan, Percy M. Creswell, "razzed" Cortazzo during a game between Nashville and Birmingham here in June, whereupon, Creswell charged, Cortazzo leaped into the stands and assaulted him. The charge was contained in a suit asking $1,000 and naming both clubs and Cortazzo as defendants.

An extraordinary attachment was issued yesterday for the bats, balls, gloves, masks, uniforms and other equipment and the gate receipts.

District Printers Beat Cincinnati Nine, 5-4

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The champion Washington team handed Cincinnati its first defeat of the Union Printers international baseball tournament by winning today's game, 5 to 4. Cincinnati had won four straight for the best record of the competition.

The Twin Cities nine was eliminated from further play with a licking from New York, 16 to 8. It was the Twin Cities second defeat, and two losses end a team's play.

Washington, Cincinnati, and New York, with only one defeat each, are the remaining contenders.

Today's games were played at Fort Snelling, near here, where the visitors were the guests of the United States Army post.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The Newark Bears, leaders in the International League, topped the New York Yankees, pace setters in the American circuit, 8 to 5, in an exhibition game today. Babe Ruth failed to get a hit.

WALKER AND SCHMELING MATCHED

Bout in Garden Bowl Sept. 19; Sharkey Meets Winner.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—After a delay of six months, during which Jack Sharkey won the heavyweight boxing championship, Max Schmeling, former holder of the title, and Mickey Walker have agreed to meet in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden Bowl September 19, the winner to meet Sharkey for the title next June.

James J. Johnston, the Garden's promoter, today announced that both principals had come to terms and would formally sign contracts Thursday, with Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, acting for the German heavyweight. Schmeling is scheduled to sail for this country August 21.

Schmeling and Walker originally were scheduled to meet at Miami last winter in another "battle of the palms," but the match failed to materialize. When the match fell through, Schmeling signed to fight Sharkey, and eventually lost his title.

Walker, who tips the scales only a few pounds over 170, earned the right to meet Schmeling months ago when he fought Sharkey to a draw at Ebbets Field. Since then he has met the best of the heavies, losing to Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, in a recent bout.

PEACOCK SHOOTS 69.

Roger Peacock, well-known local amateur golfer, shot the difficult Indian Spring course Sunday in 69, one under par.

Yesterday the Indian Spring women's team defeated the Maryland Country Club women's team, 17-10.

DISTRICT NET STARS ARE VICTORS

Mitchell, Welsh Advance in Muny Title Play.

Special to The Washington Post.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 15.—Playing better tennis than he has ever shown in a national public parks tournament, Dooly Mitchell, Washington, D. C., champion and first seeded player in the tenth annual muny courts tournament, smashed his way to the third round today with a straight-set win over Gus Amsterdam, diminutive Philadelphia player, 6—2, 6—1, 6—0.

Mitchell reached the second round on a bye, and went out after Amsterdam with a relentless attack which had the short legs of the Quaker player working overtime. Mitchell improved as he went along, allowing his opponent only one game in the last two sets.

Barney Welsh rang up another victory for the District when he waded through a strenuous five-set match with Kasel Peckoff, sturdy Buffalo netman, 6—3, 3—6, 4—6, 6—4, 6—3. Welsh showed real fighting prowess to come back from 1—3 in the fourth set to win the match. Maurice O'Neill, Washington's third entrant, did not see service.

The only upset of the day saw Gordon Braudt, Chicago, seeded No. 5, and 1931 doubles champion with George Jennings, lose to Bob Lake, Birmingham, 7—5, 6—2, 6—2. Alex Keiles, a favored Baltimorean, went out at the hands of Harvey Terrill, also of Birmingham, 1—6, 6—1, 6—3, 3—6, 6—1.

Other seeded men, George O'Connell, Chicago; Ted Drewes, St. Louis, and Arnold Simon, Louisville, advanced without trouble, hardly losing a game.

PHILS WIN EXHIBITION.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Four double plays at crucial moments enabled the Philadelphia Nationals to nose out the Grand Rapids All-Stars, 2 to 0, in an exhibition game today, although Bert Shotten's hard hitting crew was outslugged 10 to 7.

Reed Winner Over Collins; Bowen Defeated at Laurel

JIMMY REED, as cocky as ever perched himself on top of the ropes in his corner at the Twin City Arena ring last night after eight furious rounds of milling with Ray Collins, a strong-hearted fighter from Erie, Pa., awaiting with confidence the decision.

Boastful Jimmy was right again. The verdict, "Reed, unanimous decision," came ringing into his scrambled ears, and Jimmy jumped with joy.

He had beaten a tough boy, a game boxer, one who had the Jacksonville, Fla., scrapper down twice in the first round, once for a count of seven. It was Jimmy's second victory over Collins, who has put away some of the best in the country. Collins also has licked Reed.

Jimmy settled down after the second round hammering away in his usual windmill style, uncorking occasional stinging jacks with his left. He punched hard into Collins' eyes and let loose all of his ring tricks and cunning in an effort to flatten the Erie boy. The mixing became so furious in the fifth that the two fell to the floor with Jimmy at the bottom. Collins seemed tired in the later rounds. In the eighth Jimmy opened up an attack at close range, getting in plenty smacks to the face and solar plexus. Reed finished fresh, remarking as he left the ring, "Gosh, that baby's strong."

Ray Bowen, seeking a shot at Jimmy Reed, saw his hopes for a match fade temporarily, when he went down to defeat in the second eight-rounder at the hands of Tug Phillips, also of Erie, Pa., certainly one of the toughest boxers to step into the City ring. Boring in at every turn and displaying aggressiveness, the punching. Phillips came back strong after Bowen had the edge in the early rounds. Ray, facing a man who takes a punch to get in a couple, boxed cleverly, but found the rugged Phillips a bit too tough in the last three rounds. Bowen got in some dandy punches before the fight was over. He opened wounds on both of Phillips' optics and cut the invader's lip. It was a peach of a right, full of action, featuring a slugger and boxer.

Joe Chaney, of Baltimore, flashing a good defense and boxing carefully, won his second fight since his twenty months of inactivity. The vanquished was Roy Kid Manley, of Little Rock, Ark.

Roma Labona, local welterweight, rallied after a poor start, to send Nick Stapetick, of Walter Reed, to sleep in the third round of the opening preliminary.

Sailor Leonard, of Boston, and Ears Bartfield, of Macon, Ga., scrapped to a four-round draw. They punched savagely.

Bobby Garcia, the "Old Wildcat" from Mexico, was introduced and challenged any 130-pounder. Jack Portney challenged the winner of the Reed-Collins scrap. Close to 1,000 saw the card.

ANOTHER DAY

Old Master Is Nicked for 8 Hits, 5 Runs in 3 Innings.

1932 Team Is Aided by Misplays; Comedy Marks Game.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE oft-repeated "There is no sentiment in baseball" was given the lie at Griffith Stadium yesterday when the world's champions of 1924, their cast intact, were assembled for a contest with the 1932 edition of Nationals as part of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission's aport program. Eleven thousand five hundred and sixty-one were on hand, the largest Monday crowd to turn out in years, and all, no doubt, left the park as "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgot" was heard through the loud speakers, with lumps in their throats.

There is something that gets a fellow when a lot of his old friends of bygone days show up, and Bucky Harris and his gang, which put this Capital City on the baseball map in 1924, played before one of the most tolerant and sympathetic galleries baseball has ever known.

That the kings of the diamond eight years ago were beaten, 6 to 2, seemed to make no difference. The gathering got its kick seeing the famous battery of Walter Johnson and Muddy Ruel start the game, with Harris and Roger Peckinpaugh, no longer active because of managerial duties, cavorting around the infield alongside of Joe Judge and Ossie Bluege; of seeing Goose Goslin, "Wild Goose of the Potomac," holding down left, as he did for years here; of watching Earl McNeely, "the $50,000 beauty," showing that Father Time has slowed him up mighty little as a center fielder, and of seeing Sam Rice capering about like a youngster.

Tate and Leibold Get Hand

And maybe Bennie Tate and Harry ("Little Nemo") Leibold did not get ovations when, later in the game, they relieved Ruel and Rice, respectively. Fred Marberry, still being active here, was not much of a novelty, but he was given the glad hand, too, while "Ole Tom" Zachary drew cheer after cheer when he came through with a single as a pinch hitter in the ninth.

Unlike so many of these "homecoming days," there were only two changes in the pre-game program. Curley Ogden, the Sheik of Swarthmore, failed to show up because his club needed him to pitch for it yesterday, while Zachary did not take the hill because he had toiled a full game for the Boston Braves on Sunday. He kept his date to be on hand, though. E. Lawrence Phillips, the

In the Wake Of the Game

THE Nationals resume play in the series race this afternoon when they meet the Chicago White Sox, the first team to show here as the third invasion of the West is started. General Alvin Crowder is slated to do the home pitching, while Manager Lou Fonseca is expected to start Ted Lyons for the visitors.

Pitcher Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas, who hurled so brilliantly against the Yankees in a losing ten-inning effort Saturday, has pulled up with a sore salary wing and possibly will miss his assignment in the White Sox series, which starts today.

It is the general impression among fans that ball players are more or less hard boiled, but one would not have thought so before yesterday's

SWIVEL IS EASY WINNER OF FILLY FEATURE AT HAWTHORNE

Juvenile Star Cops by 4½ Lengths

Race Rates Winner Choice in Saturday $10,000 Stake.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Ill., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Adolph Pons' Swivel made a show of a good band of 2-year-old fillies today at Hawthorne to establish herself as one of the favorites for the $10,000 added juvenile handicap which will be run Saturday.

Georgie Woolf held the daughter of Swift and True-Toddle in restraint until the field came into the stretch. W. E. Hupp's Tabaku and Knight's Gal cut out the early pace. The latter was first to fold up, and Woolf shoved Swivel into the lead as they rounded into the stretch. She finished easily with a margin of four and one-half lengths over Jessie Dear which got up to beat out Tabaku by a length.

Swivel traveled the five and one-half furlongs in 1:06 4-5 and paid $4.64 for each $2 straight ticket.

Rose Sues for Share As Schmeling's Pilot

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Counsel for Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, today asked the supreme court to dismiss an action by Charlie Rose, boxing manager, for $24,000 for helping to manage the German. Jacobs' counsel said the claim had been settled for $10.

Rose did not attend the hearing, and his counsel intimated his absense was due to fear.

"He was to have signed some affidavits to oppose this application," Bernard L. Sandler, Rose's attorney, said. "But he failed to appear at my office because he was threatened and told he would be driven out of the boxing game."

Sandler asked the court to require the production in court of the original release which Rose was purported to have signed and settled his claim for $10.

"I think that will show some shaky handwriting," Sandler said.

The court adjourned the hearing until Friday, when he was promised the release would be produced from Jacobs' safe deposit box.

State Legion Honors To Alexandria Nine

Alexandria, Va., Aug. 15.—Alexandria Post completed its conquest of Virginia American Legion teams by winning a decisive victory over Hampton Post in a game here today. The final score was 8-1. The victory qualifies Alexandria for the regional finals to be played at Aiken, S. C. The team will leave for that city today.

Hampton offered little opposition to the advance of the locals, making only two hits during the entire game. Lewis and Scrivener hurled for Alexandria.

JOE AND ASBESTOS (Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

AT THE POST with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 15.

Some days you couldn't make a nickel with the Philadelphia Mint at your disposal. Today was one. My horses ganged their way into the money, which is one kind of alibi. However, I took a lot of personal satisfaction in putting Riff Raff across. Tomorrow's another day, but there's little change in this merry-go-round of horses.

Here's a few other track specials I've dug up for tomorrow: The Crane, Louis Merryman, Sun Gros, Tuffy G, Title Oak. BILL.

FIRST RACE — PRINTEMPS has proven something of a sensation here and needs only to run back to those brilliant races to lead this field to the wire. STINGER and TERRY LASS for what's left.

SECOND RACE—I'm going to have my little wager riding on WEE DROP in this. Believe this one can handle TADDYWAWA and MAD CAREER. However, I've been wrong often.

THIRD RACE—BLACKSTRAP has regained good form and is capable of taking this purse. ETCETERA and HIGHER will furnish the bulk of the battle, it is my belief.

FOURTH RACE—Pardon me if I try to wake up DON LEON in this test. This one has been asleep for a long time, but there are whispers making the rounds. STOCK MARKET and SWEET SCENT appear to be the other money horses.

FIFTH RACE—FINNIC has a way of popping up with a victory in a field of this sort. ERVAST and WATCH TOWER to battle it out for the place. GOOD AND HOT may do it, but not for me.

SIXTH RACE—TOTEM carries top weight here, but appears the best. MARTIE FLYNN has improved and is dangerous. ENGLEWOOD may drive into the show money and all of it if the top pair make mistakes. WILLIAM T. is off my list.

SEVENTH RACE—KNEE HIGH comes back with that old 97 pounds again and if he draws a capable rider, will be hard to defeat. DR. PARRISH and MODERN TIMES are a close fit for the place.

EIGHTH RACE—Take the field to place here. In the meantime, I'm naming FLYING, LA GOLONDRINA and PRINCESS A. A.

District Mermaids Beat Baltimoreans

Final Event Lets Home Team Gain Verdict by 26 to 20.

With more than 1,000 witnesses in the stands, the Shoreham Swimming Club, in which is incorporated nine-tenths of all the leading women swimmers of Washington, last night defeated the Bay Shore Swimming Club, of Baltimore, 26 points to 20 at Glen Echo's Crystal Pool.

Revealing unexpected strength in the backstroke and 240-yard relay the Baltimore girls kept close beside the locals, slipping behind only in the last event of the night, when Onalene Lawrence and Marie Duvall took first and second places for Washington in the diving.

Stocks Begin New Advance To Discomfiture of Bears

Average of 4 Points Gained in Quiet Sales of 1,905,220 Shares.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—A resumption of the advance in the stock market today, despite a moderate pace of trading, made sweeping headway in the last hour, to the extreme discomfiture of bears who had expected last week's reaction to carry further.

The market was dull and somewhat hesitant during much of the day, but buyers found a dearth of nearby offerings in the afternoon, with the result that the market was able to retrace most of the ground lost in the sell-off since the peak levels of the recovery were recorded at the middle of last week.

The price average of 90 representative issues swept up 4 points, to 59.1, or within 1.7 of last week's high. Rails led the advance with perpendicular rise, carrying the price average of twenty carrier issues to within a small fraction of last week's peak. The turnover of 1,905,220 shares, however, was the smallest for a full session in nearly two weeks.

The upturn appeared to result primarily from a drying up of the recent selling. Important business and financial news were meager, although President Hoover's summoning of industrial and financial leaders to Washington for a conference August 26 was viewed optimistically in several quarters, and a halt to the recent sag in wheat was distinctly stimulating to shares.

Du Pont temporarily lost a 2-point rise when a cut in its quarterly dividend to 50 cents from 75 was announced, but recovered to finish more than 2 higher. Announcement of payment of a dividend on National Distillers in the form of warehouse receipts for whisky failed to provide much bullishness in that issue. Tomorrow directors of Chesapeake & Ohio meet, and another regular dividend is widely expected. Formation of the projected fund to finance the movement of raw materials to manufacturers was still held in abeyance, although some banking quarters intimated that an announcement might come this week.

Case was again a high flier, rallying 7 points, to 53. International Harvester was also strong. American Telephone was also a feature, up 4¾. In the rails, New York Central rose 3¾ in a large turnover, and Pennsylvania shot up nearly 3, to 15⅝. Santa Fe and Union Pacific gained more than 4. U. S. Steel, Sears, General Electric, Chesapeake & Ohio, North American,

Bonds.

A firm position was maintained in two-tenths of a point gain. Sales dropped in volume to $10,528,000.

Curb.

CHEER IN BUSINESS GROWING BROADER

Actual Ouptut Increases Are Confined to Light Lines; Slow Rise Seen.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

In its weekly summary of general business conditions, Standard Statistics Co. of New York states the improved sentiment noticeable throughout industry since mid-July broadened considerably last week, despite the continued failure of aggregate activity to record any perceptible upturn. Particularly has this more optimistic feeling been nurtured by the increasing strength in commodity prices.

Actual increases in production schedules, however, are still confined to lighter lines, products of which go directly to the ultimate consumer. It is becoming more and more evident, moreover, that these lines will receive the major benefit of any actual improvement in total consumption of goods during the remaining months of the year.

While it is to be expected that gains in seasonal proportions may be forthcoming in the heavier industries during the fall, it is still doubtful that the momentum necessary to result in a sustained advance of material scope in lines such as steel and automobiles can be accumulated in the short time between now and fall.

Even in the building industry, the impetus from impending relief measures probably will be gradual, rather than immediate. Although sentiment in the steel industry is optimistic, based on expectations of a seasonal increase in orders, actual incoming business remains of decidedly small proportions. With producers now regulating output in close accord with current demand, it is unlikely that any marked change in average operating rates will be witnessed during the remainder of August.

President Harry G. Meem Washington Loan & Trust Co., is at Atlantic City on his first vacation since election as chief executive of that institution last December. He will be away until after Labor Day. Vice President and Treasurer Charles R. Grant, of this company, has returned from a vacation at the same place.

Meat Consumption Boosted 165,000,000 Pounds in 1932

Chicago, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Fifty representatives of the meat industry in Chicago and the Middle West met today to consider scientific and technical problems, and were informed that meat consumption in America was on the increase.

The Institution of Meat Packers announced Americans ate 152,000,000 pounds more of pork and 13,000,000 more lamb during the first six months of 1932 than they did in the same period last year. Use of beef dropped off slightly. The figures were Federally inspected meat.

BOND MARKET HOLDS FIRM IN LIGHT RISES

Two-Tenths Gain Recorded in $10,528,000 Sales; Rails Lead.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The bond market maintained a firm position today, although the trading volume was the smallest in around two weeks.

Sales totaled $10,528,000, par value, or about $5,000,000 under last Friday, while the average for 60 corporate loans advanced two-tenths of a point.

Principal gains were recorded by some of the low-priced rails and various utilities. The carriers were aided by the general belief that some of the roads, with the assistance of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, would be able to avoid defaults in interest charges and forthcoming maturities.

A friendlier feeling for the utilities followed reports that the offering tomorrow of $20,000,000 Public Service Co. of northern Illinois first lien and refunding mortgage 6½ per cent sinking fund convertible gold bonds would be oversubscribed.

The most active railway loans, with gains ranging from .1 to 3 or more points, included some of Allegheny Corporation, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Denver & Rio Grande, Erie, Great Northern, Illinois Central, Louisville Nashville, Missouri Pacific, New York Central, New Haven, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania, Frisco, Southern Pacific and Southern.

United States Treasury loans were soft. Foreign issues had a slightly irregular trend. The Germans finished all even and the British and French were steady.

CURB PRICES RALLY, RISING 1 TO 5 POINTS

Volume of Trading Declined to 230,000 Shares, as Utilities Lead.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The curb market rallied today after its brief sinking spell late last week, and many stocks gained from fractions to as much as 5 points. Transactions totaled 230,000 shares, which was less than half of last Friday's total of 490,000.

Electric Bond & Share common, which earlier this year had sold as low as 5, was again a feature, soaring up 4½ points to 22⅞. Approximately one-sixth of the curb's total sales were centered in this issue. The company's 6 per cent preferred was also a strong feature, advancing 3¾ points in quiet trading. Other utilities joined the procession led by Electric Bond & Share, although their price gains were more modest.

Industrial issues were generally firm, their gains apparently representing a normal rebound after their dip of late last week, as there was little new information furnished during the day on which to base a general advance.

The oils displayed a firm tone, Gulf leading the advance with a gain of more than a point. Standard of Indiana and International Petroleum were fractionally higher.

WHEAT VALUE AIDED BY LIVERPOOL SALES

Price Avances 1 Cent; Corn Is Up, as Oats Cut Under 1896 Lows.

Chicago, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—Higher prices for wheat today in Chicago accompanied New York stock market upturns, together with a sharp advance of wheat quotations at Liverpool.

Big curtailment of the amount of wheat afloat for importing countries helped to stimulate price gains. There were also reports of a wet harvest in Russian winter wheat territory, as well as continuing crop deterioration in the Russian spring wheat region.

Wheat closed unsettled, but at almost the day's top, ¾ to 1¼ above Saturday's finish; corn, ⅛ to ⅜ up; oats, at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance, and provisions unchanged to 5c higher.

A striking bullish development was that the amount of wheat on ocean passange totaled only about half as much as at this time last year. The decrease in the last week was 2,664,000 bushels, making the supply afloat 24,508,000 bushels, the smallest in a long time. Export trade advices, however, were bearish. European continental demand being small, in spite of the fact that stocks of wheat abroad are now ultra-light.

Corn was helped upward by wheat action. Oats responded to heavy primary arrivals and outdid lowest prices heretofore since 1896.

Provisions borrowed firmness from reports that the number of hogs in all important European countries were decreasing.

DISTILLERY OFFERS SPECIAL DIVIDENDS

Profit for Six Months Drops to $319,429; May Issue Whisky Receipts.

New York, Aug. 15 (A.P.).—The National Distillers Products Corporation, which today set forth a plan for the payment by it of a special dividend in whisky warehouse receipts to comman-stock holders, reports a profit of $319,429 in the first half-year after all charges except Federal taxes. This compares with $381,137 in the first half of 1931.

In connection with the company's proposed whisky dividend, it was computed today that one investment trust would be entitled under the plan outlined to receive 5,000 cases as its due on the basis of its large holdings of the company's common stock.

Consolidated Cigar Co. reports for the six months ended June 30 net profit of $540,251, compared with $1,094,233 in the first half of 1931. Per share profits were 51 cents on the common in the first half, compared with $2.63 in the first half of 1931.

Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation and subsidiaries report for the quarter ended June 30 net income of $4,099,899, equal, after estimating dividend requirements on the preferred stocks, to 22 cents a share on the common. Net income for the twelve months ended June 30, 1932, was $18,530,561, equal, after preferred dividends, to $1.09 a share on the common stock, compared with $24,010,387, or $1.55 a share, in the twelve months ended June 30, 1931.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading on the stock exchange was quiet and prices were somewhat irregular. American shares were marked down following Wall street's decline of Saturday, but prices were inclined to rally on hopes of a favorable outcome of the American reconstruction program. Gilt-edged securities were strong in expectation of a good report regarding the conversion outcome. The close was firm.

Berlin—Traders on the boerse were pleased with the government's energetic stand regarding Hitler. The tendency remained firm at the close, although business was restricted by the Catholic holiday.

Paris—Bourse closed. Assumption Day holiday.

ALEXANDRIA WOMAN IS ADJUDGED SUICIDE

Mrs. L. C. Tutt, Victim of Gas Fumes, Will Be Buried Tomorrow.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

Dr. W. E. Beattie, Alexandria coroner, held an inquest yesterday afternoon in the death of Mrs. Leslie C. Tutt, who was found dead in her home at Braddock on Sunday morning with all the gas jets of the cooking stove open, and gave a verdict of death from suicide.

Besides her husband and three sons, living in this city, the deceased is survived by her father, Oscar M. Larson, nine sisters, all living in Wisconsin.

The funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Wheatley's funeral home, and will be private. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Two robberies were reported yesterday to the local police for over the week-end. The store of Earl Tregar, 1801 King street, was entered by breaking a side window. Meats, cigars, cakes, candies, a pistol and $1 in pennies was the loot, according to the check of Mr. Tregar, the total amounting to $27.50.

Thieves also entered a house at 442 Glebe road and stole a typewriter, five boxes of wood and a toy wagon, all valued at $35. Entrance was made by breaking a glass in a basement window.

George Harris, sergeant at arms of Rotary International, is the speaker scheduled for the weekly luncheon meeting of the Alexandria Rotary Club at 12:30 o'clock today in the George Mason Hotel. A special musical program is being arranged by Program Director Lawrence E. Roland.

Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, has announced that the Citizens Band, of Alexandria, will give a concert on Friday, August 19, at the Municipal Swimming Pool grounds.

Mrs. Ruth Virginia Rosser, of Accotink, Va., died yesterday at the Alexandria Hospital, following an illness of three months. She was 20 years of age. She was the wife of Wilner D. Rosser, and is survived also by an infant daughter; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beavers, of Accotink, three sisters and four brothers.

The body was taken to the Wheatley Funeral Home, and the funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Woodlawn Baptist Church, and burial will be in the Woodlawn Cemetery.

Takoma Park Councilmen Approve Davis' Dismissal

Mayor Lewton's Discharging of Town Clerk for Refusal to Use New Blank Form Approved by Unit; Zoning Change Voted Down.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post.
9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4203.

Dismissal of Bryan Davis, town clerk of Takoma Park, Md., for failure to cooperate with the finance committee, was approved last night at a meeting of the mayor and council of the town. Mayor Frederick L. Lewton reported that he had removed Mr. Davis when the latter refused to use a new form of blank which had been decided upon by the finance committee for handling town collections. Applications for the position of town clerk and treasurer will be studied by the finance committee.

Mayor Lewton reported that there will be no report of town finances ended July 30, as the report can not be prepared until the auditors have completed their inspection of the town books for the past five years. The auditors are expected to complete their work in a few days, he said.

John R. Adams, acting as treasurer, reported receipts of $19,202.05 and expenditures of $7,877.35 for the month of July.

Discussion of a requested change of zoning for the block on Tulip avenue between Willow and Carroll from residential to commercial by a group of property owners represented by former Police Justice A. L. Wilson, developed into a verbal battle, with the mayor, members of the council and Judge Wilson taking part. The matter had been referred to the council by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission for its recommendation.

After an hour of recriminations, the council voted two to one against the change, with two members not voting. The vote was John R. Adams and Peter Remsen, opposing the amendemnt; R. G. Sherburne for the amendment; Martin F. Iverson and Irvine H. Ware, not voting.

Councilman Iverson reported that the health department's objections to the town's garbage disposal hog farm had been removed. R. G. Sherburne and M. F. Iverson were appointed a special committee to equip the town office in the Community Building.

Irvine H. Ware, chairman of the police committee, reported that he had received a letter from Samuel T. Turner, complimenting Policeman Earl Thomas on the capture of Edward Wilson, colored, who was alleged to have been stealing chickens from the Turner henhouse. Wilson was shot and seriously wounded when he scuffled with the policeman. Mr. Ware also mentioned the capture of an alleged housebreaker by Policeman Frank Lane, acting with county police, when Lane shot a tire from the fleeing car. "The town wanted efficient police. We now have six policemen and I understand from reports they only shoot once. That should be a warning to wrongdoers."

Edwin Russell and Basil Jarvis were appointed special police for the Washington Sanitarium and Hospital at the request of hospital authorities.

No action will be taken on selection of a site for the Farm Women's Market of Montgomery County, Inc., until after the organization meeting Thursday night, Miss Blanche Corwin, county home demonstration agent, said yesterday. No one has authority to act for the farm market until officers are elected and all activity so far has been of an exploratory nature. The meeting Thursday night will be held in Miss Corwin's office in the Rockville Courthouse.

In the meantime, a meeting is planned for Wednesday night of residents of Edgemoor and neighboring communities with the representatives of the farm market in an effort to iron out difficulties regarding the proposed site. Frank Spicer, president of the Edgemoor Citizens Association, announced last night. This meeting also will be at the courthouse.

Troops of District Get Taste of War

Company Walks Into Line of Rifle-Range Fire, but Escapes Unhurt.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 15.—A company of national guardsmen encamped here with the 121st Engineers, District of Columbia National Guard, had a real taste of war today. Led by Capt. Arthur C. Newman, Company A, 372d Infantry, the only colored outfit in the District regiment, unwittingly walked across the rifle range.

The men were about a half mile to the rear of the range and directly in the line of fire. When bullets whined entirely too close for comfort, the company was ordered to drop to the ground. It was a thrilling experience, but a message of their plight soon reached the marksmen and firing ceased.

SHINAULT'S SLAYER SOUGHT IN 2 STATES

Four Held for Quizzing Here as Maryland and Virginia Aid in Search.

A search of two States and the District continued last night for the slayer of Policeman George W. Shinault, but with little success.

The policeman was shot to death Sunday night when he went to break up a fight at 39 F street street northwest. He had been detailed to work on a precinct radio car to insure his safety. He had received a number of threatening letters after he fatally wounded William J. Huska, Chicago bonus marcher, in the recent riots.

There was no evidence that the bonus trouble had anything to do with Shinault's death. It was a quirk of fate which led him into the path of the fatal bullets.

Unable to Defend Self.

Operating the radio car while his companion, Policeman Ralph D. Edwards, quelled disturbances, Shinault exchanged places with his partner when the police radio broadcast the trouble call at the F street address. Entering the home of William Bullock, colored, Shinault was shot twice without having an opportunity to defend himself.

Edwards attempted to catch Bullock, who was seen running from the house. An intensive search by local police and Maryland and Virginia police was organized. Four colored persons were arrested for questioning.

View Baltimore Suspect.

Washington police last night went to Baltimore on information that a man answering Bullock's discription had been arrested there on a minor traffic charge. Detective Sergt. George Darnell, after viewing the man, said he was not the one sought.

Shinault was 38 years old and had been a member of the police force for the last six years. He is survived by his wife and five children. They made their home at 1350 Franklin street northeast. Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at his home. The body will be sent to Richmond, Va., for burial. Flags at all police stations were ordered at half staff yesterday by Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford in memory of the dead policeman.

C. & P. Telephone Rate Case Hearing Resumed

The telephone rate hearing, which has been going on in spasmodic fashion for more than two months, was resumed yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission after a two-week recess. Baxter Milne, of counsel for the Chesapeake-Potomac Telephone Co., spent the day cross-examining Thomas R. Tate, commission valuation engineer.

No indication was given as to when the telephone company will start presenting evidence in its defense. The cross-examination of commission witnesses will continue today.

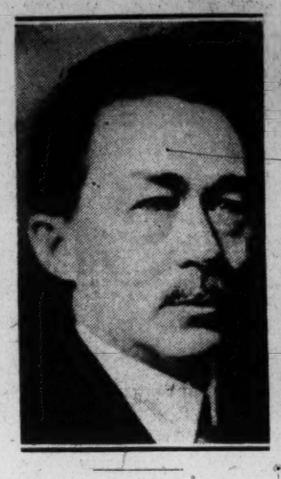
R. Golden Donaldson Weds Frances Starr, 42, Actress



Frances Starr, stage and screen actress, and R. Golden Donaldson, former president of the Commercial National Bank, who were married in New York yesterday. Mr. Donaldson is a lifelong resident of Washington.

Former Banker and Bride to Make Home Here After Motor Trip.

Wedding plans made in secret were revealed yesterday when R. Golden Donaldson, former president of the Commercial National Bank of Washington, married Frances Starr, stage and motion picture actress, in New York. Plans of the couple to wed were not known until they applied for a license at City Hall yesterday morning. Mr. Donaldson gave his age as 55 and Miss Starr as 42.

The ceremony was performed at the Savoy Plaza. Following a wedding breakfast, the couple left on a motor trip. They indicated they would make their home at the Wardman Park Hotel and Miss Starr probably would give up her career in motion pictures.

Included among those who were present at the ceremony and breakfast were Ruth Chatterton and husband, George Brent; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Irish, daughter and son-in-law of Mr. Donaldson; Robert G. Donaldson, jr., and Wyman C. Donaldson, sons of the bridegroom; Mrs. George C. Van Tuyl and Miss Blanche Lamore, sisters of the bride, and Virginia Hammond.

Miss Starr was a favorite of Washington audiences when she was in legitimate roles. She will be remembered for her success in "Marie Odile." Mr. Donaldson is known as both a lawyer and a banker. He retired from the presidency of the bank two years ago. His first wife, who was Antoinette Collett, died in 1927.

FIRE DEPARTMENT WANTS $2,527,220

New $80,000 Company Listed for Northeast Area in 1934 Estimates.

Construction of a truck company house at Fourteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast is asked in the Fire Department estimates submitted to the District Commissioners. Total 1934 estimates are $2,527,220, as compared to the 1933 appropriations of $2,379,120.

The new truck company would serve Brookland, Woodridge, Dahlgren Terrace, Michigan Park and Langdon and would relieve No. 4 Truck Company, which now answers calls in the Northeast as far as the District line, more than 3½ miles from its quarters. The proposed company also would relieve No. 13 Truck Company in the vicinity of Bladensburg road and the District line.

The estimate places the cost of the house at $80,000 and equipment and furniture at $3,500.

No additional firemen are asked, but the estimates provide $12,900 for longevity promotions for privates. The department requests a new aerial hook and ladder truck, two combination hose wagons and one pumping engine, thus more than doubling the current appropriation of $42,500 for equipment.

The health department's estimates amount to $467,330, as compared to the 1933 appropriation of $457,310. This increase is largely accounted for by the inclusion of estimates for "a more adequate medical and dental service" for the public schools. Even this additional appropriation, it is said, "will not put the service on an adequate basis," but will constitute "an improvement over present conditions."

Notable by its absence is Health Officer William C. Fowler's request for a contagious disease hospital. This project has been his desire for several years, but it is always deleted before the District funds are appropriated.

Estimates of the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks jump from $2,140,570, which is the current appropriation, to $2,688,162. Of this increase of $527,592, the office asks that $343,645 be appropriated for further development of the Rock Creek-Potomac Parkway. In addition, $25,000 is asked for further development of Anacostia Park, $25,000 for the Palisades Park, and $74,000 for improving sidewalks, roadways and the like.

The usual $1,000,000 is asked for purchasing park land under the Cramton act.

Grand Jury Riot Report Due Today

Indictments Are Expected as Result of Inquiry Into Bonus Indictment.

Grand jury findings growing out of the investigation into riots and accompanying eviction of the bonus veterans from Washington last month will be revealed today when the jury makes its report to Justice James M. Proctor.

Although some indictments are expected for assaults at the time of the evacuation, United States Attorney Leo A. Rover failed to corroborate this report or give any intimation of the number of indictments to be returned.

Completion of the jury's case follows two weeks of inquiry, during which United States Army officers, police officials and civilian spectators were called as witnesses. Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds assisted Mr. Rover in presenting the evidence.

Court Witness Is Given 10 Days for Contempt

Willie Hightower, colored, went to court to testify for a friend yesterday, but somehow couldn't find the words.

Judge Ralph Given investigated Willie's unusual behavior. He had practically no trouble in finding the words. "Ten days for contempt," he said. "The man's drunk."

MAN FEARING ENEMY SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

World War Veteran Was in Constant Dread of Unknown Danger.

Fear that he was being pursued by an unknown enemy was believed to have been responsible for the shooting of Charles H. Reilley, a veteran of the World War, who was found lying badly wounded last night, in an alley at the rear of his home, 2907 Twenty-ninth street northwest.

Residents of the community were startled by two shots shortly after 9 o'clock. Hurrying from the back porch of his home at 2928 Twenty-eighth street northwest, Albert Schatz found Reilley lying semiconscious near the door of his garage. A 32-caliber Spanish-make revolver lay by his side.

"Did I get him?" Reilley is said to have asked Schatz.

Schatz, unable to understand the meaning of the man's question, assured him that he had, and summoned an ambulance from Emergency Hospital. Reilley was found to be critically wounded, with two bullet wounds in his stomach.

Neighbors said Reilley was shell-shocked during the war and often imagined he was being pursued by an unknown enemy. He became violent at these times, it was said, and attempted to "capture" his enemy.

Reilley served with the District Ambulance Corps during the war and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. His wife, Mrs. Elsie Reilley, was not home last night when the shooting occurred. They have two children, Catherine, 4, and Buddy, 6.

Driver Faces Grand Jury Action in Girl's Death

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Farley Bissonett, 22, of 1242 Pleasant street southeast, driver of one of the cars in a crash at Minnesota avenue and Twenty-second street southeast, Saturday, in which 3-year-old Leland N. Scott was killed, be held for the grand jury.

2 DEAD AND 1 ILL OF SPOTTED FEVER

Health Officers Act to Halt Disease, Which Killed Pair of Children.

With two children dead and a woman in a serious condition in Georgetown Hospital, United States and District health officials are endeavoring to check the appearance in this section of Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

The third victim is Mrs. Louise Abell, of Bowie, Md. She was bitten by a tick at her home.

The two children who died within a few days after being infected with the ticks are Shirley Matson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Matson, of the Westchester Apartments, and Paul Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Haas, 4616 Hunt avenue, Chevy Chase, Md. Shirley was 9 years old and Paul 6.

Private funeral services will be held for the Haas boy this morning. Services for the Matson girl will be held from her uncle's home, Frederick C. Greve, 2819 Bellevue terrace, at 3 o'clock. Burial will be at Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Children Died Sunday.

Both children died Sunday, the Haas boy that morning at Georgetown Hospital, and the Matson child that night at her home. The boy is believed to have been infected with the tick while playing near his home. The girl had visited at Harringday in southern Maryland, but it is uncertain whether she contracted the disease in that section or in the District.

The fever, health officials state, usually does not become evident until eleven days after infection. The Matson girl was taken ill nine days ago in Harringday after she had been there a week. It is possible, therefore, that she could have been infected while in Washington, health officials said.

Blood transfusions were given the Haas boy from persons who have had the fever in the past year. These persons, having recovered from the fever, are immune, and their blood helps infected persons to get rid of the disease. The boy failed to respond to the transfusions. Pneumonia developed last Friday, ending his life in two days.

During illness the children had high fevers and a slight rash.

Physicians have issued a warning to parents to keep children out of bushes, particularly along river and shore resorts, where tick infestation is heaviest. Picking ticks from dogs should be avoided, it is stressed.

Although the law does not require that this disease be reported, physicians and parents are asked to report any cases that may appear to the District Health Department.

Tick Bites Cause Fever.

The following statement was issued yesterday by Dr. V. P. Ellicott, county health officer of Montgomery County, who, prior to his appointment to the county health position was well known as epidemiologist of the Baltimore health department and for his work in the parrot fever epidemic:

"The evidence is fairly definite that spotted fever is frequently caused by tick bites. Only a small portion of tick bites cause spotted fever. The tick has to be infected from some domestic or wild animal before it can pass on the infection to man. We can not say yet there is great danger of getting spotted fever from handling dogs because the tick which bites man usually gets on to the body direct from trees or shrubbery and not from dogs. If a tick is found attached to the body there is no known prevention of the disease.

"Recently a case occurred in Montgomery County following a tick bite in spite of the application of tincture of iodine at the time the tick was removed. Care should be taken in removing the tick from dogs and not to permit ticks to get on the body. Children should be warned about playing in shrubbery and against removing ticks from dogs themselves."

Girl Hurt in Crossing By Hit-and-Run Driver

Miss Mary Sheehy, 15, 1635 First street northwest, suffered minor injuries to her knees and legs when a hit-and-run automobile struck her as she was crossing at North Capitol street and Rhode Island avenue yesterday. The vehicle is said to have had New York tags. It was headed toward Maryland.

The girl was treated at Sibley Hospital and allowed to go home. Mrs. Mary Schilbroth, 55, 2714 Seventeenth street northeast, who was crossing the street with Miss Sheehy, was uninjured.

$500 Fire Damages Dress Shop.

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday damaged the dressmaking establishment of Maude Converse on the second floor of 1745 Connecticut avenue northwest. The blaze was confined to the shop. The damage was $500.

K. OF C. FUND URGED FOR MEMBERS' AID

Supreme Knight Carmody Asks $1,000,000 for Relief Work.

Establishment of a $1,000,000 relief fund to aid members of the Knights of Columbus in distress was urged yesterday by Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody at the opening session of the golden jubilee convention in the Mayflower Hotel.

While in its 50 years existence, the order has disbursed millions in charitable work outside the order, he pointed out, it never has promoted such a movement for the benefit of its members.

"The conditions that have prevailed for more than two years have given rise to much serious consideration for the welfare of our members," he said. While most of the cases of distress among the members have been relieved by action of the subordinate councils, he said, nevertheless such conditions emphasize the need for a fund for emergency use.

Source of Good Service.

"I am confident," he said, "the creation of such an endowment would provide the means for doing untold good in deserving cases among our members."

Action on Supreme Knight Carmody's proposal may be taken by the convention at its business session today or tomorrow.

Mr. Carmody expressed the gratitude of the order for the assistance given in planning the convention by Auxiliary Bishop John M. McNamara, pastor of St. Gabriel's Church, and to State Deputy Frederick J. Rice and P. Michael Cook, general chairman of the committee.

The late Charles W. Darr, Washington attorney, was eulogized yesterday by State Deputy Rice as the man who organized the drive for the erection of the statue of the late James Cardinal Gibbons near the Shrine of the Sacred Heart.

Crosby Praises Order.

In an address of welcome to the delegates District Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby declared it was such organizations as the Knights of Columbus, with which he had intimate contact overseas during the World War, that bring about the restoration of prosperity.

The opening session was preceded by a mass in St. Mathew's Church, which was celebrated by Bishop McNamara. Supreme Knight Carmody laid a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and another at the Tomb of Washington. Last night the order conducted a boat ride down the Potomac River.

Royce's Body Still Sought in Potomac

Two Companions Held Until Possible Inquest Into Drowning.

Police have been unable to recover the body of Theodore Royce, 1259 Owens place northeast, after 30 hours of dragging the Potomac River below Chain Bridge, where a canoe in which Royce and two compagions were cruising overturned Sunday evening.

Royce, a glazier, had been persuaded to take the ride, after repeated refusals to venture on the river. The boat tipped over less than fifteen miutes after the party set out. Police are holding the friends that were with him when the craft capsized.

John F. Williams, 26, of 1803 Newton street northwest, and James E. Hilleary, 22, of Fort Myer Heights, Va., were held at the Seventh Police Precinct as possible witnesses if an inquest is ordered. The two survivors were rescued from the river while they supported themselves by holding to the sides of the overturned boat. Royce, they said, attempted to swim for aid.

Retired Captain Found Dead Declared Suicide

The death of Cyms G. Wood, 56, retired captain in the United States Army, who was found dead in a room in the Houston Hotel Sunday, was held to be suicide in a coroner's certificate yesterday.

The body of the former officer, who was at one time stationed at Walter Reed Hospital and who made his home at Runnymede, N. J., was found by a porter at the hotel. Notes left by Wood indicated he feared insanity. One note requested burial in Arlington Cemetery.

Mrs. Louise Kolb, Ill, Takes Turn for Worse

She has been in ill health for more than a year, but her condition recently took a turn for the worse and two physicians are in attendance.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THERE seems to have been more than originally met the eye in that movie title, "The Marriage Circle."

Fulfilling all prophecies made about it, Ruth Chatterton disembarked from Europe last week-end, corroborated the report that her husband, Ralph Forbes, had divorced her and within 24 hours had become the bride of George Brent, recently seen here in person with Loretta Young at the Earle Theater. This quite reduced the developments of "The Rich Are Always With Us," in which Miss Chatterton and Mr. Brent were last seen together, from fiction to fact. Miss Chatterton's attendants at her wedding were Frances Starr and Virginia Hammond, both also actresses of wide renown.

Yesterday Miss Starr created no less than a sensation in theatrical and local society circles by becoming the bride of R. Golden Donaldson, well known in the Capital's legal and financial life. Miss Starr's attendants were Mrs. Ruth Chatterton Forbes Brent and Virginia Hammond.

Now the question is, who is Miss Hammond going to marry today with Mrs. Brent and Mrs. Donaldson as attendants?

Incidentally, Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson will make their future home in Washington at Wardman Park, which presupposes the former Miss Starr's definite retirement from the screen, where her assignments have never been in the least commensurate with her recognized ability as an actress. Her performance of the title role of "Marie Odile," in the Belasco production of the Edward Knoblock play of that name, will long linger in memory as one of the most exquisite creations of the modern theater. Her most important part in pictures was that of the harassed young suicide-mother, opposite H. B. Warner, in "Five Star Final," starring Edward G. Robinson.

This "world premiere" business is becoming epidemic. With the first public presentation of "Isle of Paradise" scheduled for Friday at Loew's Columbia, and of "Blondie of the Follies" at the Palace, Manager Hardie Meakin, of RKO-Keith's calls up with voice all aquiver with excitement to say that following "The Age of Consent" at his showshop, the world "permeer" of "Night Club Lady" will be celebrated. This is a Columbia Pictures production in which the principal roles are played by Adolphe Menjou, Mayo Methot and "Skeets" Gallagher.

"The Age of Consent," due to open Friday, and "Night Club Lady" render only half true the preliminary announcements that the first four bookings for RKO's "Greater Show Season" would be "American Madness," "The Bird of Paradise," "Hold 'em Jail" and "The Bitter Tea of General Yen." These pictures—or so I am informed—are all to be shown at RKO-Keith's, but not in the order first intended.

Officials of the Lundington Lines were not so much surprised to see a strange biplane come to an easy three-point landing at Hoover Airport last Friday as they were to discover a young boy at the controls. He proved to be Alfred K. Hall, jr., appearing on the Earle stage this week with his celebrated father, who for years has labored under the intoxicating nom de theatre of Al K. Hall. "Alkie, jr.," has the distinction of being one of the youngest pilots in America. He has 200 flying hours officially to his credit, has flown to 10,000 feet and carries his own license.

Miss Helene Kearney, formerly in charge of the Fox Theater's free dancing school, has been ensconced in the lobby at Loew's Fox to register, measure and blueprint the Capital's most ample schnozzolas! That is to say, in honor of Master Jimmy Durante's appearance with Buster Keaton in "Speak Easily" next week, a $25 prize will be awarded for the largest nose discoverable in the District. To determine exact proportions and a definite winner, Miss Kearney is equipped with tape measure and yardstick.

Naturally a foot-rule wouldn't do!

FELONY SENTENCES GIVEN IN NEW LAW

First of "Indeterminate" Cases Are Settled by Justice Proctor.

The first "indeterminate" sentences in felony cases under the new law setting up a board of indeterminate sentences and parole for the District, were meted out yesterday by Justice James M. Proctor in the District Supreme Court.

Christopher Evans and George Smith, both colored, were sentenced to not less than three years nor more than fifteen years apiece in each of four cases of robbery. The four sentences will run concurrently.

On three of the same charges, Samuel Weaver, colored, was sentenced to not less than two nor more than ten years on each count, the three terms to run concurrently.

A few sentences were passed under the old law for crimes committed before July 15. Thomas F. White and John M. Kirk were sentenced to six years on charges of robbing George L. Goodacre, restaurant proprietor, of $3,382.

The new law requires that sentence be imposed for an indeterminate time between a minimum, fixed at one-fifth of the maximum and the number of years named as the maximum.

Death of Teller Held Accidental

W. S. Armstrong Funeral Tomorrow; Killed in Fall at Boat Club.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death yesterday in the case of Walter S. Armstrong, 27-year-old bank teller who died Saturday night when he fell from a second-story window at the Potomac Boat Club.

The District chemist's report stated an excessive amount of alcohol was found in the man's system. Witnesses testified Armstrong apparently had lost his balance while near a window. Armstrong, a resident of Meadows, Md., was employed at the National Savings & Trust Co.

Funeral services will be held at his home at 10 a. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in the church cemetery of the Epiphany Church, of Forestville, Md.

ARCADE BONDS SALE POSTPONED BY SUIT

Banks Enjoined in $1,100,000 Mortgage Deal by Harry M. Crandall.

Suit to enjoin the advertised sale of $1,100,000 in first mortgage bonds of the Washington Arcade Co., operating the Arcade Building, at Fourteenth and Park road, was brought yesterday by Harry M. Crandall, motion picture operator, in District Supreme Court.

The suit was filed against Vernon G. Owen, auctioneer; Riggs National Bank, Union Trust Co., National Savings & Trust Co., Commercial National Bank, Commercial National Co., Washington Loan & Trust Co. and Crane, Parris & Co.

The sale was scheduled for yesterday at 10 o'clock, but was postponed on notice of the suit. Justice James M. Proctor issued a rule for defendants to show cause why the sale should not be enjoined pending final hearing.

The Crandall petition, filed by Attorney Alvin L. Newmyer, charged it because it became impracticable in October, 1927, to erect an athletic stadium as part of a proposed building plan, after a bond issue of $1,400,000 had been made by the Washington Arcade Co., and that it was necessary to recall part of the bond issue.

It was charged Crane, Parris Co., in behalf of the defendants, agreed to refinance the project, with the understanding Crandall, in the meantime, would pay $145,000 to recall part of the bonds, then borrow $1,000,000 from the defendants, secured by the remaining $1,100,000. The petition alleges they failed to carry out their part of the agreement after Crandall paid the cash required, executed the notes and curtailed them to $938,000. Hearing was set for August 23.
